India's first 2 Omicron cases found in B'luru

One is a doctor with no history of travel, while the other, a South Africa national, flew to Dubai late last month

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA on Thursday reported India's first two Covid-19 cases with the new Omicron variant. While one is a medical doctor from Bengaluru with no travel history, the other was a South African national who has left India for Dubai.

While on the one hand, the local authorities, including the state Health Minister, are asking people not to panic, they have expressed fears of community spread as the Bengaluru doctor had no travel history and five of his contacts have also tested positive for Covid-19. Their genome sequencing reports are awaited.

The announcement was made by the Union Health Ministry at a press conference in New Delhi on Thursday. Calling for calm and strict surveillance, Joint Secretary, Union Ministry of Health, Lav Agarwal said, "Two Covid-19 cases of the Omicron variant have been detected in Karnataka, in two men aged 46 and 66. The Indian SARS-CoV-2 Genomics Consortium (INSACOG), which monitors the genomic variations of the virus, has confirmed this. There is no reason to panic, but we need to be monitoring the situation and follow Covid-appropriate behaviour."

Karnataka Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar, giving out more details, said the 46-year-old is a medical doctor, a resident of Bommanahalli in Bengaluru, and he had voluntarily got himself tested on November 21 after he showed symptoms like fatigue, fever and bodyache. His RT-PCR test returned positive for Covid-19 on November 22.

"Karnataka's genome committee has laid down protocols which say that any positive sample with low CT value, indicating high viral load, have to be sent for genome sequence testing. Hence, the doctor's samples were sent while he had isolated himself already. The genome reports came on December 2, confirming that he was infected with the Omicron variant," Dr Sudhakar explained. WHY THE FEAR ABOUT OMICRON VARIANT

Scientists have found that the Omicron variant underwent 30 amino acid changes, three deletions and one insertion in the spike protein as compared to the original virus from Wuhan.

The spike protein is what attaches itself to the human cell receptors to gain entry and destroy the cells.

The variant also has three mutations in the furin cleavage site, which increases SARS-CoV-2 infectivity.

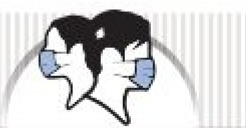
Scientists feel this could be the reason for this variant's higher infection rate.

But it is still unclear whether Omicron is more transmissible than other variants, including the Delta.

Epidemiological studies are under way to understand the new variant and how much more (or less) potent it is compared to its predecessor variants.

29 countries have reported 373 cases of Omicron so far

Passengers arrive from Singapore at the Indira Gandhi International Airport in New Delhi on Thursday | PTI



HOW IT CAN BE DETECTED

Current RT-PCR tests can detect the variant.

But some labs have indicated that a widely used PCR test does not detect one of the 3 target genes. This detection (S gene target failure) can serve as a marker for Omicron.

ADVISORY

- Best way to remain safe from any of the SARS-CoV-2 variants is to follow safe Covid-appropriate behaviour
- Wear your masks properly
- Strictly follow hand hygiene as often as you can
- Continue maintaining social distance
- Most importantly, get yourselves vaccinated and complete the dosage

CM to meet experts today, discuss new guidelines

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

HOURS after the Centre announced the detection of the Omicron variant in two samples from Bengaluru, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, who held a meeting with Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya in New Delhi on Thursday, said an emergency meeting with experts will be held in Bengaluru on Friday afternoon to discuss the state's strategy to contain the spread of the new variant.

The CM said there is a need for new guidelines to contain the spread and they will decide on it after Friday's meeting.

"Preliminary reports indicate that though the new variant spreads (fast), it doesn't require hospitalisation. However, we will get all the details once we get the complete lab test reports on Friday, which will also give us an idea on treatment protocols," Bommai told media persons in New Delhi on Thursday.

Bommai held two rounds of talks with Mandaviya — once before the Centre announced the detection of the Omicron cases, and again in the evening to discuss the Covid-19 situation.

The National Centre For Biological Sciences (NCBS) lab report has confirmed the Omicron strain in two persons, the CM said.

Brace for a bumpy year ahead as cars, houses to cost a lot more in '22

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

WITH commodity prices showing no signs of abating, year 2022 is going two be costlier on many fronts — especially if you were planning to buy a new car or a house. India's largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki on Thursday said it would increase vehicle prices from January to offset the impact of the rise in raw material costs.

It is a common practice for automakers to go for a price hike of 2-4% in January every year. However this year, buyers will feel the pinch more as most leading automakers have gone for at least three price hikes in the past one year. For example, Maruti had increased the prices of its vehicles by 1.4% in January 2021, 1.6% in April and then again in September by 1.9% — taking the total quantum of increase to 4.9%.

Sources said Tata Motors, Mahindra & Mahindra and Hyundai will make similar announcements soon. Luxury automakers Mercedes Benz and Audi have already announced price hikes of 2% and 3%, respectively, from January 2022.

MSIL's senior executive director (marketing and sales) Shashank Srivastava had recently said the firm would be forced to hike vehicle prices with steel, aluminium, copper, plastic and precious metals becoming costlier. Steel prices, which stood at ₹38 per kg last April-May, shot up to ₹77 a kg this year. Similarly, aluminium which was available for $1,700-1,800 a tonne last year, now costs $2,700-2,800 per tonne.

If unchecked, this surge in metal prices, along with rising cement prices, is going to jack up property prices as well. "Housing developers' profit margins are already wafer-thin and the rising inflationary trend of basic input costs such as cement, steel and labour is a real challenge... Future price hikes seem inevitable," said Prashant Thakur, director & head of research at Anarock Group. Real estate industry body Credai had recently estimated housing prices to jump 10-15% in view of rising costs of construction raw materials.

CEMENT PRICE TO TOUCH ₹400 PER BAG: CRISIL

The retail price of cement, which has risen ₹10-15 per bag pan-India since August, is likely to swell by another ₹15-20 over the next few months, ratings agency Crisil said in a report on Thursday. The price could touch an all-time high of ₹400 per bag this fiscal due to costly inputs such as coal and diesel, it added

Gloves are off as Cong hits back at Mamata

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

WITH West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee making pointed attacks on the Congress, the latter began giving it back in equal measure, with the charge led by its young leaders to start with.

From calling Congress incompetent to saying there is no UPA, Mamata has been vocal in her criticism so as to wrest the Opposition leadership space. At her recent meeting with NCP chief Sharad Pawar in Mumbai, she is learnt to have floated the idea of regional parties forming an Opposition alliance and making seat arrangements for the 2024 Lok Sabha polls, while bringing the Congress to the table after the polls, sources said.

Separately, her strategist Prashant Kishor took a swipe at Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, calling for democratically electing the Opposition leadership, adding it was not the "divine right of an individual".

Congress leaders this newspaper spoke to said the party will drop its restraint and take on the Trinamool based on facts, though seniors would stay out for now.

The counterattack has already begun with party MPs Manickam Tagore, Syed Nasir Hussain and others saying Mamata has no business commenting on the UPA. A senior leader said the Congress is the principal opposition party with around 20% vote share in the 2019 elections. "The Trinamool Congress is limited to Bengal. They went chest thumping in Tripura but we saw the results in the local body polls. Goa Assembly results would further clear the air," the leader said.

SC gives Centre 24 hrs to fix Delhi pollution issue

KANU SARDA @ New Delhi

HINTING that it might create a task force to monitor pollution control measures, the Supreme Court on Thursday gave 24 hours to the Centre to take action to check the rising air pollution in Delhi-NCR.

"We are giving you 24 hours' time. We want you to take a hard look at this and come up with a solution with seriousness. We will take this up tomorrow morning. You update us about the steps, otherwise we will pass directions," a bench headed by Chief Justice N V Ramana told Solicitor General Tushar Mehta. "In an emergency situation, you have to work in emergent ways. Suppose the temperature goes up in fever, what can be done to control it?" the CJI said.

Mehta said he will respond after speaking with the minister. "We are not averse to this and the highest functionaries are equally worried," he said.

The SC also pulled up the Delhi government for reopening schools and exposing children to air pollution.

Chinese nano drones on Customs radar

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

PEOPLE'S desire to purchase drones cheap online from China-based outlets, clubbed with complete ignorance of rules, has resulted in the Customs department in Karnataka dispatching a total of 1,213 drones to the Union Ministry of Home Affairs and Ministry of Defence so far. The consignments had reached the Foreign Post Office (FPO) at Chamarajpet, Bengaluru, in individual parcels over a period of a year.

Reliable sources told TNIE, "Nearly 95 per cent of these are nano drones while the rest are micro drones. The nano ones are like toy drones, weigh up to 50 gm and can reach a height of 30-40 feet only.

However, they cannot be purchased without permission from the government. Since they are available for prices ranging between Rs 1,000 to Rs 5,000, depending on the product from e-commerce sites, many show keenness to purchase them."

The drones are easily visible when the parcel is run through scanners at the FPO. The Customs department carries out "an absolute confiscation" for drones imported in this fashion, another source explained. The department issues a show-cause notice to the addressee asking the individual to explain why it was purchased and the lack of authorisation for it. "Most people do not respond to the notice but a few reply saying it was bought for their children and they did not know the rules. A fine of Rs 5,000 is also levied, but again very few pay up. But we do not pursue that as it is mostly ignorance and not any male fide intention on the part of buyers," he added. P7

NEW VARIANT

Schools seek parents' help to keep cases under check

Don't send kids to school if guests home from abroad, families told

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SOME private schools in Bengaluru have requested parents to watch out for new symptoms that the new variant may present, and also refrain from sending their children to school if they have guests from other countries or have travelled from districts with high clusters.

"The new variant may present itself with a different set of symptoms, like excessive fatigue and aches in the body. Kindly do not send your child to school if there is any hint of the child being unwell with symptoms mentioned above, or have fever, cold, cough etc. If any child is found to be unwell while at school, he/she will be isolated and the parents will be required to pick up the child ASAP," read a note sent to a parent by a private school in South Bengaluru.

Meanwhile, a school in North Bengaluru has said that children who have guests from other cities or countries where the number of cases is rising, must not be sent to school till the guest's quarantine period is over. With the emergence of clusters in medical colleges and some residential schools in the city, private schools with hostel facilites have decided to shift back to day boarding soon.

Meanwhile, president of Karnataka Private Schools Association (KSAMS) D Shashikumar has asked the state government to ensure that proper SOPs are given to monitor space outside the school premises, which may be the primary reason for children to get infected. He says, "It is not school where children is catching the infection, but spaces outside like coaching classes, private tuition, bus stops, malls where monitoring is not happening. The government should first do that."

Doctors also said that parents should ensure that children do not attend social gatherings. Schools noted that both wards and parents should refrain from outstation travel if it is unavoidable. Rashmi Kamath, a parent of a child in a private school, said, "My daughter's school told us not to send the child seven days after we return to Bengaluru from Dharwad. The teacher is monitoring the child to see if there are any symptoms. We have negative RT-PCR and will be sending our son to school soon."

Paediatricians, meanwhile, recommend that the child's Vitamin supplements and Vitamin D is monitored as prophylactic measures.

MCC students in panic over case on campus

Students from Mount Carmel College in the city are in panic as they believe a student tested positive, while no authority has confirmed the same. Officials either did not respond to calls or passed the buck among themselves to divulge information. At present, just the first-year students are coming to campus for offline classes. Second and third year students will write exams offline from December 6, they said. Should they want to skip this exam, second-year students said they were asked to take the supplementary exam next year. Neither the principal nor the vice-principal responded to calls. BBMP health officials Dr Savitha and Dr Naveen refused to divulge information, pointing to each other to give information.

Parents seek strict guidelines after schoolgirl tests positive

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DESPITE repeated pleas from parents, a school in Bengaluru where a child tested Covid-positive on Wednesday, is yet to implement any safety measures.

A Class 8 student of Rashtrotthana Vidya Kendra in Thanisandra tested positive for the virus, and had been exhibiting mild symptoms. She took a test on Saturday, and the results were out on Wednesday, after which her parents informed the school. However, parents of other children are alleging that no action has been taken, and offline classes are continuing.

"Parents are panicking and we've been asking the school to take some kind of action or at least switch to online classes to make sure there is no spread. The child had been to school for at least 10 days before she had exhibited symptoms, so we're worried," said a parents.

According to the parents, the school said that appropriate action had been taken according to government regulations, and BBMP had been informed. However, they have not decided whether the switch to online classes. "Strict measures have been followed around the school and the girl tested positive after she stopped coming to school, we're still considering switching to online classes," said a staffer at the school.

According to the girl's father Manjunath (name changed), BBMP doctors visited their house and told them there was no cause for alarm.

However, parents have said no guidelines are followed in school.

PHYSICAL SCIENCES: Bedangadas Mohanty, for investigations of the nuclear force which will help understand it in detail, and can help harness nuclear energy.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FROM those who have worked in areas related to sexual violence and jurisprudence, to biodiversity of Indian ecosystems and new point-of-care testing platform for PCR-based medical diagnostics, six scientists and social scientists were presented the Infosys Science Awards at the 13th edition on Thursday. The awardees in six fields were given a pure gold medal, a citation and a prize purse of $100,000.

One of the awardees, Chandrasekhar Nair, CTO of Molbio Diagnostics in Bengaluru, who developed and deployed TrueNat, a novel point-of-care testing platform for PCR-based medical diagnostics, at a large-scale, iterated the need for strengthening the healthcare ecosystem to prevent further pandemics. He said that PCR, as a technique, fascinated him and his team to diagnose pathogens sensitively and specifically, and started looking at the problem more than 20 years ago. For it to be useful in India and other places, they set about creating a product that was easy to use, required minimal or no training or infrastructure. Today, it is distributed in 40 countries and made an impact when India needed it most, he said.

Pratiksha Baxi, who worked on courtroom ethnography for 18 months, and illegal processes such as 'compromises' by rape survivors, said that unfortunately, the judiciary is misogynist because law is embedded in society and women lawyers and judges have experienced sexual harassment within the judiciary. "We require a lot more work in the judiciary to end the problem of sexism and harassment because we can't think of law as seperate from society" she added.

Infosys founder N R Narayana Murthy said, India has done a good job in Covid management. "If we look at the number of people we have lost to Covid, or the number of cases compared to total population, it's a much smaller percentage compared to most other nations. Of course, no one knows about China, but we need to continue what we are doing with less complacence and more discipline. We don't need to do anything more than what the government has been saying all these months. If we take normal precautions, we can contain the new Omicron strain," he said.

S Gopalakrishnan, co-founder of Infosys, stressed on the need for data protection laws and said it will help make data available in a reliable format which is useful for research. "Typically, the data available for research is anonymised and population-level data," he said.

Experts pitch for eggs in midday meals across state

ENS @ Bengaluru

FIFTY-SEVEN experts and citizens, and 17 organisations and institutions, under the aegis of 'Our food, Our right - Karnataka', have written an open letter to the Education Minister, urging that eggs be provided to schoolchildren across all the 31 districts of Karnataka, as part of their mid-day meals.

It may be noted that the government has planned to provide eggs in mid-day meals for 14,44,322 children from seven districts, every day, for 46 school days. The letter comes at a time when Lingayat organisations are reported to be demanding reversal of the Karnataka Government's decision to include eggs in mid-day meals.

Meanwhile, the group quoted the National Family Health Survey (NFHS), 5th round (2019), and added that most children in Karnataka do not reach their ideal height and weight.

"Stunting of 35.4% and being underweight of 32.9% are common in children even before they start their school life, and this is much more so in children from vulnerable communities. We are concerned that these indicators would have worsened considerably due to the pandemic and lockdown," the collective added.

PETER VIDAL

03rd December: Friday is Venus' day. In ancient times Venus was known as the Queen of Heaven, such was the planet's splendour. We're not sure where that connection came from but its traditional meaning is that it's an auspicious moment for pursuing all affectionate Venusian activities, including falling in love, making friends and getting married.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)

Fortunately, the financial outlook is more than promising, and what takes place now is bound to make you feel more prosperous in the long run. Next month will bring increased expenses, so enjoy yourself while you can. You have everything to gain from a generous gesture, by the way.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)

'Seek and you will find', would seem to be a suitable motto at the moment. The whole point about this saying is that the quest for truth is an inner one: the answers lie with you and you alone. Today's lunar alignments are very busy, so take the opportunity to get ahead.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)

If you have the courage to live according to your principles, you will gain enormously in the long run. At work you should therefore make a point of putting other people's interests on a par with your own. A selfless attitude will earn respect and win allies.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)

It's definitely time to stop dithering, banish any traces of self-doubt, and swing into action. Use every ounce of your charm and guile to promote your ambitions, and realise that you must now aim only for what you truly, deeply and genuinely desire.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)

It would be a shame if you were to be bogged down in petty arguments over who does what, or whose rights are being infringed, especially as this is in its essence such an open-hearted and adventurous period. There's bound to be the odd muddle at home, but don't let such irritations distract you from higher matters.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)

You probably feel a little as if you have been cut adrift and left to fend for yourself. That could be good, for if you have been left out, you'll have more time to quietly reconsider your future in preparation for imminent improveme-nts. There are some extraordinary planetary patterns ahead, by the way, so don't imagine there are no more changes to come.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)

You can sometimes seem to be aloof and a law unto yourself, but if you can possibly make other people see that you really do care, you will break down many barriers and open the way to a great new relationship. After all, good friends are worth far more to you than any amount of cash.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

You should be wary of people with big egos. It's not that somebody is likely to be a problem now, but that they might be getting more difficult in a week or so. Be cautious and play it by ear. As soon as you sense that trouble lies ahead, go out of your way to settle the underlying problems.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)

Certain planets are likely to confuse personal issues, while others are urging you to act without thinking. It is, however, an excellent moment to put in train those unusual suggestions which you've kept to yourself until now. You never know - partners might actually be impressed!

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)

There's a great deal happening in your chart to do with technology, so aside from all the emotional and psychological ramifications of current transits, now is the time to stock up with the latest gadgets! A new gadget could even have a beneficial effect on your social life.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)

Fantastic planetary aspects are now fading, but they do retain some of their power to bring about lively meetings, unusual decisions and intriguing choices. Today you must begin to take the initiative rather than waiting for others to make up their minds.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)

By the end of the month you may look back on this period as one in which you finally stood up for yourself. It's important to take well-calculated risks, even if this does mean that you have to grow a thicker skin. It's fine to be sensitive, but not self-obsessed.

Contact tracing, testing taken up after Omicron case

46-yr-old doctor attended medical conference, five of his contacts test positive for Covid-19, samples sent for genome sequencing

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

SOON after news of samples of a doctor from a reputed government hospital being Omicron-positive spread, there was rising panic and fear not only among Bengalureans, but also the medical fraternity and health officials.

According to BBMP officials, five contacts of the 46-year-old male doctor who tested positive, are found to be positive. Their samples have been sent for genome sequencing and reports are awaited.

Sources said the doctor, who does not have a travel history, had attended a medical conference where national and international delegates had participated.

"There were around 80 delegates. Some could be carriers of the virus and may have spread it. We got to know because this doctor was one of them. We have started communication to trace all those who attended the conference and test them, and a close watch is also being kept on citizens for the variant virus. Not many are showing symptoms or their samples have not been given for genome sequencing," the source added.

The BBMP and health department randomly collect samples of those who test positive and send them for sequencing, apart from special medical cases and those with international travel history.

"This doctor's samples were sent to NCBS for genome sequencing. He showed the Omicron symptoms of body pain and fever on the second and third day. He first tested positive on November 22 and again on November 24, the day his samples were sent for genome sequencing," the source said.

As per contact tracing information, the doctor had 13 primary contacts and 204 secondary contacts.

He was earlier in home quarantine, but when the samples were taken the second time, he was shifted to Bowring Hospital for treatment.

"He had mild symptoms, and is fine now, since 10-12 days have passed. The worry now is the delay in obtaining the genome sequencing report and the other people who could have contracted the variant. It is also suspected that the patient's wife and children could be infected. All contacts of the patient who tested positive are doctors. In case of two, the report showed the infection to be a Delta variant," the source added.

The primary and secondary contacts are from Bommanahalli, South and West Bengaluru. All those who tested positive, including the two who contracted Omicron, are doubly vaccinated, which is why the symptoms are mild, the source said.

Along with primary and secondary contacts, 160 hospital staffers have also been tested. Health and government officials are looking at patient details to test them and rule out all doubts.

Don't be complacent, wear mask: Palike

THE doctor was in home isolation for the first two days and, on November 25, was admitted to a private hospital. After three days of treatment, he was discharged on November 27.

Meanwhile, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahangara Palike (BBMP) has tested 13 of his primary contacts, mostly his family and health care workers, and 205 secondary contacts. It has found that two of the primary contacts and three secondary contacts have tested positive for Covid-19.

"We have sent their samples for genome sequencing and we are waiting for the reports from the INSACOG labs. All five have been isolated and are either asymptomatic or mildly symptomatic," said BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta. He also warned people not to be complacent, ensure wearing of masks and to get vaccinated as the doctor had no travel history and the variant may already be in the community.

The other infected person is a South African national who arrived at Kempegowda International Airport from Dubai on November 20 with a RT-PCR negative report from South Africa and was screened and tested at KIA on arrival. He had checked into a hotel and his test reports had come positive. He was found to be asymptomatic and advised to self isolate at the hotel.

On November 22, his samples were sent for genome sequencing through the BBMP. The patient took another test at a private lab on November 23 and his report was negative. His 24 primary contacts and 240 secondary contacts are asymptomatic and negative. "He checked out of the hotel on November 27 midnight and has travelled to Dubai by flight," said Gaurav Gupta.

Sudhakar explained that the Omicron virus was detected quickly in the state due to the fast track and testing system and high genome sequencing of samples. The chief commissioner also confirmed that both the persons were vaccinated with both doses.

Meanwhile, the minister said arrangements have been made at airports for Covid testing reports to be given within 2-3 hours. Passengers from overseas have been notified of checking and inspection. Two types of tests are being conducted at airports — the Abbott test and RT-PCR. The Union Government has fixed Rs 3,000 for the Abbott test and the results can be obtained in just 30 minutes to one hour. For the RT-PCR testing at the airport, the charge will be Rs 500 and the result will be available in 3-4 hours.

He also claimed that false news is being circulated on social media that the Abbott test isn't accurate. It is as accurate as the RT-PCR test, he stressed.

Civic body chief bats for fewer people at events

ENS @Bengaluru

In the wake of a fluctuating Covid-19 caseload and Omicron variant cases reported in Bengaluru, BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta said it is proposed that the number of people gathering for outdoor and indoor events should be reduced. At present, 500 people are permitted to gather for outdoor events and 200 for indoor events.

Gupta told reporters that they had discussed the matter with experts and Technical Advisory Committee members, and the government will take the final decision. So far, no specific count for outdoor and indoor gatherings has been placed before the government.

He said discussions are on over permitting Christmas and New Year parties. However, with the virus looming, he suggested that citizens should avoid gatherings and visiting crowded places.

The commissioner said that 10-15 per cent of the samples testing Covid-19 positive are being sent for genome sequencing, with the stress on international travellers and those who have symptoms.

Do not give nod to TN river project, CM urges Centre

Wants govt not to approve Cauvery-Vellaru-Vaigai-Gundar linking project until permission is given to implement Mekedatu scheme

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday urged the Union Government not to give nod to Tamil Nadu's intra-state Cauvery-Vellaru-Vaigai-Gundar river-linking project until Karnataka's Mekedatu project is cleared.

Bommai, who was in Delhi, met Jal Shakti Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat, Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya and Law and Justice Minister Kiren Rijiju, on Thursday.

During his meeting with Shekhawat, Bommai discussed several water projects with the minister. The CM also sought national project status for the Upper Bhadra Project. Bommai, who had earlier served as the state's water resources minister, said, "We discussed Tamil Nadu's river-linking project. I have urged the Centre not to clear the project till Mekedatu project is cleared."

The 260-km Cauvery-Vellaru-Vaigai-Gundar river-linking project will enable certain areas of Tamil Nadu to use about 45 tmcft of water to green certain drier pockets of the state.

Karnataka, which first raised the issue many months ago, has already filed a petition in the Supreme Court seeking injunction to prevent the Jal Shakti Ministry granting permission to Tamil Nadu to go ahead with the project. And, in response, the apex court had posted the matter to January 2022 seeking responses from the lower riparian states of Tamil Nadu and Puducherry. Bommai also urged the union government not to go ahead with the detailed project report on the Godavari-Krishna-Mahanadi-Cauvery river-linking project without consulting the Karnataka government.

Tamil Nadu has been opposing the Mekedatu project. Karnataka has been arguing that the project is a multipurpose (drinking and power) project that involves building a balancing reservoir near Kanakapura.

Mandaviya appreciated K'taka's Covid mgmt: CM

"WE are alarmed, but cautious. Our duty is to track and trace such strains wherever it is found and also their contacts. We are already at it. We are trying to get experts' views and also the Government of India guidelines on this," the CM added. Sources said the reports were ready on Wednesday night and announced by the Centre on Thursday.

Responding to a question on some states demanding a ban on international flights from countries that are reporting cases of the new variant, the CM said he had held discussions with the Union Civil Aviation Minister, who informed him that they need to take a comprehensive look at it.

Earlier in the day, the CM said he had sought the Centre's opinion on administering booster doses of the Covid vaccine to health and frontline workers in the state.

"He (Mandaviya) appreciated the Covid management and vaccination drive in the state and asked us to maintain the pace. We have enough stocks of vaccine to continue the drive. On administering booster dose to our health workers, the Union Minister informed us that a decision will be taken after discussions with experts and it will be conveyed to the states," the Chief Minister said.

MLC POLLS

BSY, HDK TO TAKE FINAL CALL ON BJP-JDS TIE-UP: BOMMAI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday said that a final decision on forging a pre-poll alliance between the Bharatiya Janata Party and the Janata Dal (Secular) for the December 10 MLC elections will be taken by the senior leaders of the party — former chief ministers BS Yediyurappa and HD Kumaraswamy. This comes close on the heels of a meeting between JDS supremo and former Prime Minister HD Deve Gowda and Prime Minister Narendra Modi, which set off endless speculation about a possible tie-up between both the parties to face the Legislative Council elections, the second major electoral test for Bommai after the bypolls to Hanagal and Sindagi assembly cosntituencies.

Speaking to the media here, Bommai said there are different opinions on the issue in the districts. Elaborating, Bommai, who started his political career in the Janata Dal and enjoys a good rapport with JDS leaders, said, "Final details of the pre-poll alliance between the BJP and JDS will be decided by the leadership of both the parties."

Political pundits point out that the JDS can tangibly help the BJP in districts like Bidar, Raichur, Uttar Kannada, Shivamogga, Bengaluru Rural, Chikkaballapur, Kolar, Tumakuru and Bengaluru. However, the regional party has near absolute control over Mandya and Hassan districts and is almost 100% sure of getting its nominees elected in these two seats and it may not take a chance of supporting the BJP in the two districts. Hence, Mandya and Hassan are likely to see a direct JDS-Congress fight.

Yediyurappa had recently sought the support of JDS in seats where it is not contesting. While the elections are a week away, both BJP and JDS are chalking out strategies to reduce the Congress' strength in the Upper House. In the last elections, the Congress had managed to win 14 of the 25 seats it is contesting now.

Vijayapura MLA Basanagouda Yatnal, known to make controversial remarks, on Thursday claimed that there will be major changes in the government in about a week's time. He claimed that many non-performing ministers "who just hang around with the CM" will be dropped after December 10, but added that not all are performing badly. He stressed that the CM will not be changed. Asked about Yatnal's claim, CM Basavaraj Bommai, who was in Delhi, said he had no such information. "There may be something that Yatnal may be privy to. I will speak to him," he remarked cryptically. Yatnal, a former Union minister, had been censured by the party for speaking against Yediyurappa and had laid low ever since Bommai took over as CM.

Alliance could be a template for 2023 polls

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

THE passive support which the JDS has been extending to the BJP in the assembly bypolls, and in select seats where it has not fielded candidates for the Council polls, appears to be part of a larger gameplan for the 2023 assembly elections in Karnataka.

This gained credence after former PM H D Deve Gowda visited PM Narendra Modi on Wednesday. The meeting, seemingly a casual one with a proposal for the development of Hassan district, carried its own political significance. It served to convey the changing equation to the rank and file of both the BJP and JDS, and some BJP leaders have already highlighted it on social networking sites.

Former CM H D Kumaraswamy had stated on Wednesday that he will take a call on supporting the BJP, after Gowda returns from New Delhi, giving rise to speculation that Gowda and Modi also discussed politics during their meeting. Kumaraswamy is said to have held discussions with Gowda, who returned on Thursday night. He is expected to make an announcement about JDS' support to BJP on Friday, and according to sources, may also instruct local leaders to back BJP candidates.

In fact, JDS leaders in seats like Chikkamagaluru are already supporting the BJP candidate, as the regional party has not fielded its candidate. In Shivamogga, where the party has some base in Bhadravathi and Thirthahalli taluks, and in Chitradurga, the local JDS leadership is going with the BJP candidate. In return, whether the JDS expects BJP candidates to be neutral in any of the six seats where it is contesting, is not clear. The party has to retain four seats and has fielded its candidates in Hassan, Mandya, Tumakuru, Mysuru, Kolar, Mandya and Bengaluru Rural.

The JDS strategy is clear: support BJP to stop arch-rival Congress from retaining its 14 seats in the ensuing polls, and ensure the BJP wins 13 seats for a majority in the Council, to help pass bills in the Upper House.

In the 2023 assembly polls too, the JDS could resort to a similar strategy as Kumaraswamy's main target is to weaken Opposition leader Siddaramaiah who is as aggressive against JDS as BJP. "Anti-Siddaramaiah camps are expected to polarise the 2023 assembly polls," a leader from the rival camp said.

Ministers get busy in districts for MLC poll campaign

ENS @ Bengaluru

CABINET ministers, who were assigned different districts to monitor the Covid-19 and flood situation, are now busy campaigning for the party candidates contesting the upcoming MLC elections from those places. They are juggling between their ministry work in Bengaluru and the districts they were assigned.

After losing the Hanagal Assembly segment in the recent bypolls, the BJP is leaving no turn to win most of the 25 Council seats. Speaking to TNIE, Urban Development Minister Byrathi Basavaraju, who was assigned the task of monitoring flood and Covid in Davanagere, said he is dividing his attention between his constituency, his ministry and the campaigning. "All three are important. We cannot ignore any of these," he said. The ministers have been given oral instructions by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and party state president Nalin Kumar Kateel to focus on campaigning. "There is a need to win at least 15 of the 25 seats. This will help us in getting many important Bills passed in the Council,'' a senior BJP leader said.

42 LIVES LOST

Flood loss pegged at ₹11K cr, crop on 10L hectares damaged

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

HEAVY rains in the last two months claimed 42 lives and left a trail of destruction in several districts. The state government has pegged the losses at Rs 11,916 crore.

Agriculture crops in over 7.9 lakh hectares, 1.25 lakh hectares of horticulture crops, 74,530 hectares of plantation crops and 243 hectares of sericulture crops have been damaged due to heavy rains in October and November 2021. According to the state government's comprehensive report, the crop loss due to rains that damaged crops in around 9.9 lakh hectares is estimated at Rs 8,962.02 crore.

Apart from standing crops, roads, bridges, culverts, electrical infrastructure, schools, hospitals, anganwadis, government buildings and other critical infrastructure has been affected. The overall estimated damage is pegged at Rs 11,916.30 crore and as per SDRF norms stands it is Rs 1,281.92 crores, the report stated.

Sources said the state government sent the report to the Centre on Thursday.

Highlighting the extent of damage caused by the unprecedented rainfall, the report stated that heavy rains led to over-saturation of soil and inundation of fields for more than a week to a month, resulting in significant damages to standing crops near the harvesting stage and it also destroyed most of the Rabi crops, such as bengal gram, cotton, jowar, maize and chilli.

From October 1 to November 21, Karnataka received 307 mm rainfall as against its normal of 166mm, recording 85 per cent more rainfall, the report stated adding 23 out of 31 districts have recorded excess to large excess rainfall.

Without waiting for financial assistance from the Centre, the state is providing compensation to farmers for crop loss. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has directed the officials to take up the process giving crop loss compensation on war-footing. However, farmers are not too happy with the compensation amount; Rs 6,800, Rs 13,500 and Rs 18000 per hectare for rainfed, irrigated/horticulture and perennial crops, respectively.

From October 1 to November 21, the state got 307 mm rain as against the normal of 166 mm damaging crops

'Amid challenges, efforts on to hold winter session'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Belagavi

IN the midst of several challenges, attempts are being made to hold the winter session of the legislature effectively at Suvarna Vidhana Soudha in Belagavi for 10 days starting December 13, Assembly Speaker Vishweshwara Hegde Kageri has said.

Addressing the media at Suvarna Vidhana Soudha here on Thursday, Kageri said that Karnataka is facing challenges related to Covid-19 besides flood-relief works and the MLC election process.

He expressed confidence that the winter session will be held with an objective to meet people's aspirations.

"Necessary measures will be taken to ensure that all Covid protocols are followed by people during the session. Officials from various departments have already held extensive meetings on how to conduct the session by implementing Covid guidelines effectively," he said.

Kageri said he was yet to receive the Bills to be tabled in the winter session from the government. "None of the Bills have been sent to us so far by the government. Actually, the Bills should be sent to us at least a week prior to the start of the session. We are asking the government to expedite the process," he added.

On the recent chaos in Rajya Sabha over the farm laws, Kageri said that he was pained by the developments and has written to the Lok Sabha Speaker and the Rajya Sabha Chairman raising concern over the conduct of several people's representatives inside the Upper House.

Kageri said he expects people's representatives to behave responsibly and hold meaningful discussions on all the vital issues in the winter session to meet people's expectations. Kageri said that he held marathon meetings with top officials at the soudha to ensure that all arrangements, including accommodation, food and travel of all the legislators, officials and other guests were in place before the start of the session.

Legislative Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti said that the MLCs to be elected afresh after the December 10 elections from local bodies' constituencies will not be eligible to attend the winter session. According to him, the new MLCs would have to take oath of office on January 5, a day after the term of the sitting MLCs from the same constituencies ends on January 4. "Therefore, all the sitting MLCs will be attending the winter session," he added.

Goolihatti seeks resurvey of religious conversions

DAVANAGERE: With Hosadurga tahsildar's report declaring as false, allegations of forceful conversion to Christianity and also that families had voluntarily undergone conversion, BJP legislator and Legislature Committee on Backward Classes and Minorities member Goolihatti Shekhar on Thursday said the tahsildar will be directed to conduct a resurvey of religious conversions. He told TNIE that he is ready to prove that forceful conversions took place, and the survey should be conducted in the presence of media, organisations refuting the allegations, revenue and police officials. He said the public has been brainwashed and there is a larger conspiracy. Goolihatti said the issue will be discussed during the winter assembly session. Hosadurga tahsildar Thippeswamy and police inspector of Hosadurga had visited Maruthi Nagar in Srirampura hobli and interacted with converted families, who rubbished allegations of forced conversion.

OUT OF COVID SHADOW

Beer sales, liquor revenue up, F&B sector keeps fingers crossed

BALA CHAUHAN

REVENUE collection continues to look up, with the state Excise department achieving 68.19 per cent of budget estimates for the April to November period in the current fiscal 2021-22, compared to the corresponding period in 2020-21, during which the department had secured 62.41 per cent of the budget estimate for the last financial year.

Beer sales, which till recently were sluggish, reported a comeback largely because of easing of Covid-19 restrictions and lifting of night curfew. There is a 23 per cent growth in sale of beer and 19.51 per cent increase in sale of Indian Made Liquor (IML) in comparison to last year.

"There is a Rs 2,594.48 crore increase in revenue this year in comparison to the previous year," said official sources.

There are, however, concerns in the Food & Beverage industry regarding possibility of renewed restrictions, with the first two Omicron variant cases being detected in Bengaluru.

"Variants of SARS-CoV-2 will keep coming. We need to be cautious and take maximum precaution, but this does not mean that we go under lockdown each time a variant surfaces. The first thing the government would do is close bars and restaurants," said the co-chapter head of National Restaurant Association of India Amit Roy.

He added that excise licencees will appeal to the government against the three-day closure on December 9, 10 and 14 because of MLC elections.

"December is the only month we are hoping to do some business. We have to pay the second instalment of excise licence fee (of around Rs 5.5 lakh for CL9 and retail vend of beer) by the end of this month," he added.

"Just as we were beginning to see increase in footfall and looking forward to Christmas and New Year, the news (of Omicron) has come as a big worry. We cannot afford yet another round of restrictions and curbs. Many of us will not be able to sustain if we miss out on December business," said the owner of a popular restobar.

IAF trainees misbehave at rly stn

Passengers at the Cantonment Railway Station in Bengaluru | S LALITHA

A GROUP of about 30 Indian Air Force (IAF) trainees, who allegedly behaved in an unruly manner at the Bengaluru Cantonment Railway Station while booking tickets on Wednesday night, were taken to the Railway Protection Force (RPF) station for their misbehaving. They were letoff with a stern warning after the officer in charge of the group apologised on their behalf to the cops, said multiple sources.

According to eyewitnesses, the incident occurred around 7 pm on Wednesday at the booking counter area. "The group spread themselves across the three booking counters and were speaking loudly among themselves. An RPF cop, quite senior in age, was trying to regulate the crowd and was asking the public, including the IAF trainees at the counters, to stand in a queue," one of the witnesses said.

The IAF men in civilian clothes, and donning IAF jackets, refused to do so despite the cop's repeated requests. "They kept speaking loudly among themselves. A few of them even pushed the cop aside and rebuked him for daring to touch the person in charge of their group. He then called his superior officer to the spot," another witness said.

The entire group was hauled off to the RPF station on Platform One and given a stern warning."The person in charge apologised on behalf of the group and told the cops that they had not even completed two years in their jobs and were still on training and requested they be forgiven," the source added. Many in the group returned without booking their tickets as the counters got closed.

Asked about it, a Defence spokesperson told TNIE, "The matter is yet to be brought to our knowledge officially. We will look into it and get back."

Railway officials alleged that unbecoming behaviour by defence personnel happens on and off trains and at stations. "A few of them have this mindset that they can get away with any kind of behaviour as they work for the forces," said an official.

Ex-MLA arraigned in Periya murder case

CPM leader charged by CBI with aiding accused; Another blow for party after arrest of 5 members

TOBY ANTONY @Kochi

THE ruling CPM, which was left red-faced following the arrest of five of its members on Wednesday in the 2019 Periya double murder case, was dealt another blow on Thursday after the CBI arraigned former party MLA K V Kunhiraman as an accused in the case.

The 59-year-old CPM Kasaragod district secretariat leader is charged with aiding some persons, who were directly involved in the murder of Youth Congress workers Kripesh, 19, and Sarath Lal P K, 24, after the crime. The Central agency is yet to take a call on recording Kunhiraman's arrest. Sources in the CBI said there is no evidence so far of his direct role in the crime which took place at Periya in Kasaragod on February 17, 2019.

The CBI (Central Bureau of Investigation) named Kunhiraman as accused in its report submitted before the Ernakulam Chief Judicial Magistrate Court after it produced the five arrested CPM men – A Surendran, Madhu A, Reji Varghese, Hari Prasad and Rajesh P – in court. The court remanded them in judicial custody till December 15.

Sources in the CBI said Kunhiraman had been questioned twice, including two days ago in Kasaragod. "So far, there is no evidence of his direct role in the double murder. This is being investigated. However, we will question him again. We will take a call on the arrest procedures based on the evidence we find," said a source.

Besides Kunhiraman, CPM workers Raghavan Velutholy of Pakkam, K V Bhaskaran of Pakkam, Gopakumar alias Gopan Velutholy of Panayal and Sandeep P V alias Sandeep Velutholy of Pallikare (all in Kasaragod), along with the five persons arrested on Wednesday, were arraigned in the case by the CBI on Thursday.

CBI has not filed a petition seeking the custody of the five persons arrested on Wednesday.

"We are yet to take a decision on it. However, the interrogation of A Surendran, the 15th accused, is vital. He played an active role in the murders. In fact, the conspiracy was hatched after Surendran and first accused Peethambaran were assaulted on January 5, 2019. He provided information about the movement of Sarath Lal to the assailants," said an officer.

The case was handed over to the CBI on September 30, 2019, after several flaws were pointed out in the investigation carried out by the police.

NEXT CHALLENGE

The next challenge before the CBI is to file the chargesheet on or before December 4, the deadline set by the Kerala High Court. "We are trying to finish the probe and file the chargesheet before the deadline. However, there are provisions like filing a preliminary chargesheet now and seeking nod for further investigation, based on which a supplementary chargesheet can be filed later. We can also seek an extension of the deadline citing the current progress of the probe," an officer.

Tribal man shot at by forest staff; activists demand probe

KARTHIK K K @ Mysuru

A tribal man was allegedly shot at by forest staff at a tribal hamlet near Bylakuppe in Mysuru district. Basava (37), a resident of Ranigate Jenu Kuruba hamlet in Periyapatna taluk, is now being treated at KR Hospital in the city. While the forest department staff claim that he was chased and shot at for illegally chopping off a sandalwood tree, villagers and tribal activists argue that the authorities were trying to frame him in a false case.

According to a complaint filed by the victim's wife Pushpa at the Bylakuppe police station on Wednesday night, a copy of which is available with TNIE, she has accused forest watcher Subramani of opening fire while three others, including Mahesh, Sidda and forest guard Manju were present. On hearing the gunshots, people from the hamlet gathered at the spot following which forest guard Manju shifted Basava to a hospital in Kushalnagar. As the bullet had gone deep, he was shifted to KR Hospital in Mysuru for treatment.

Pushpa, in her complaint, has alleged that the four forest staffers and Basava had a clash a month back when he objected to forest staff who tried to chop off a silver oak tree near his house. "After this incident, they had threatened to teach him a lesson and were nursing a grudge against him," she said in her complaint.

Meanwhile, the Forest Department lodged a complaint against Basava, based on the testimony of the forest staff, at Bylakuppe police station. The police have registered an FIR against him under IPC Sections 379, 506, 353, 332, 307 and under Karnataka Forest Act 86 and 87.

Superintendent of Police R Chethan confirmed to TNIE that an FIR was registered based on the complaint of Forest Department staff and the statement of the injured person was already taken.

However, tribal activists, including Dr Mahendra Kumar, project director of Green India Trust, actor and Adivasi activist Chethan Ahimsa, expressed ire against authorities for not registering an FIR against the forest staff based on the victim's wife's complaint.

Meanwhile, Nagarahole Tiger Reserve director and DCF Mahesh Kumar on Thursday issued a press statement stating that the forest staff, based on a tip-off, went to catch three person who were chopping a sandalwood tree near near Cauvery block CPT-1 reserve forest early on Wednesday when the miscreants attacked the forest staff. "In self defence, the staff opened fire and Basava was injured while two others, Dileep and Satish, are absconding," he stated.

However, villagers including J D Jayappa, secretary of Budakattu Krishikara Sangha, said that Basava had attended a meeting and had even posed for a group photo at 10.21 am on Wednesday, as it was needed to open a bank account. "A few minutes after this, he was shot by the forest staff, that too not inside the forest, but next to the main road where no sandalwood tree is found," they said. They also claimed to have a video of forest staff placing sandalwood logs for the police inspection to frame Basava.

Meanwhile, actor Chethan and others met Deputy Commissoner Bagadi Gautham, SP R Chethan and requested them to lodge a case. "We demand a detailed probe and appropriate action must be taken against the wrongdoers," he said.

3 cops suspended over custodial torture

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A day after the National Confederation of Human Rights Organizations (NCHRO), Karnataka, approached City Police Commissioner Kamal Pant over alleged torture in police custody, three policemen from Varthur police station were suspended in connection with the incident on Thursday.

The case pertains to 21-year-old Salman Khan, an employee at a meat stall who was detained by the police in a theft case, following which his arm had to be amputated after he was subjected to custodial violence.

The suspended police personnel are Head Constable Nagabhushan Gowda, and constables Nagaraj BN and Shivaraj H.

At a press conference, senior advocate S Balan said during a fact finding a week ago, a team of human rights organisations and advocates concluded that Khan was illegally detained from October 27 to 31 without being produced before a magistrate, or in compliance with due procedure of law. "He was subjected to extreme forms of torture at the hands of the police officials. He was hanged from his toes, beaten up, kicked, stomped on with boots, placed in positions with a rod tied behind his back, and was kicked on his arm to such an extent that the arm got swollen to twice its size. On account of the torture, Khan lost his arm. The incident was riddled with illegality, with allegations of extortion, torture and abuse coming to light," Balan said.

The team demanded that further action must be initiated against the officials under Section 220, 330 and 331 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, among other provisions of law and a monitored inquiry must be initiated against the inspector and officials of Varthur police station.

Compensation of no less than Rs 50 lakh should be granted to Khan and his family for the atrocities faced by him.

Asked why the consignments had been held back for so long, a source said that it had to be despatched by trucks to the Chennai Customs office. "It costs us at least Rs 1 lakh to package them and send them over. Hence, we send them in one go," he added. An Equipment Type Approval (ETA) certificate from the Wireless Planning Co-ordination Wing of India is mandatory to buy drones. It can be done online at https://saralsanchar.gov.in after paying a one-time registration fee of Rs 10,000, he explained. There is a complete lack of awareness about these procedures, he said.

Revenue inspector, family assaulted by sand mafia

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @Ballari

A 53-years old revenue inspector and village accountant of Rupanagudi hobli in Ballari district was assaulted by a group of 15 members on Wednesday night at his residence.

The group barged into the residence which is located in Millerpet in Ballari city. The group pushed the wife and son of the inspector and started beating the officer up. The officer Venkataswaami H had recently seized a tractor which was carrying sand illegally. The investigation has hinted that those involved in the illegal sand mining and transporting were behind the attack.

The Ballari police have rounded up six accused and the investigation is underway. A case has been registered in Brucepet police station.

This is third such incident in Ballari in the last one year. After the latest attack case in the district the officials have requested police to provide them security during seizure operations and also arrested the accused at the earliest. The officers gave memorandum to Deputy Commissioner Pavan Kumar Malapati.

Saidulu Adavath, Superintendent of Police, Ballari said, "The police have started an investigation and some of the accused have been detained. The attacker and officer live in the same area. We are investigating the case from all angles. We shall provide security to officials on need basis so that they can discharge their duties fearlessly."

WITH THE TIMES

Soon, you can flash your phone, make donations at temples

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

WITH digital payments becoming hugely popular, the Karnataka Hindu Religious Institutions And Charitable Endowments Department has proposed to introduce a QR code-based payments system in some of the state-run temples for the benefit of devotees. This is also expected to bring in more transparency.

The QR code will be affixed where the regular donation box (hundi) is placed by the temple management. Devotees can choose to offer cash donations or make e-payments with their smartphones.

The Kerala government has introduced a similar system at the Sabarimala temple. Speaking to The New Indian Express, Endowment Department Commissioner Rohini Sindhuri said Karnataka had such plans much before Kerala. "There are many issues to be looked into before implementation. Unlike most of the temples in Karnataka, Sabarimala is visited by devotees in a particular season. We need to check the feasibility of managing it the entire year,'' she said.

The department is also developing a unique Integrated Temple Management System (ITMS) to provide details of temples, including properties owned by them, route maps, sevas offered and rate charts among other details. "Under this, we are also planning to tie up with a bank, where all the money donated by devotees for a particular seva will directly go into that account. This will streamline and bring financial discipline,'' Rohini said. But official sources said some temples are reluctant to adopt this and prefer the regular system.

According to Rohini, the temples can adopt a QR code system only if the ITMS system is completed. She, however, said they may introduce the system in a few temples, like Kukke Subrahmanya, to start with.

In Karnataka, there are 34,559 temples under the Endowment Department. Of these, 175 temples are Class-A (annual revenue above Rs 25 lakh), 163 are Class-B (Rs 5-25 lakh) and the remaining are Class-C temples (less than Rs 5 lakh per annum). Most of the revenue is through hundi donations from devotees and the various 'sevas.'

VAX HESITANCY IN TEACHERS IMPARTS WRONG LESSON

Kerala's general education minister V Sivankutty recently revealed that more than 5,000 teachers and non-teaching staff in schools are yet to get vaccinated against Covid-19. While some had valid health reasons to keep away from the vaccination drive, most cited religious beliefs to opt out. The presence of "unvaccinated teachers" has become a major health concern with the schools in the state resuming offline classes from November 1. The government, on its part, has since then taken some measures to deal with this vaccine hesitancy. It has withdrawn the option of working from home for the unvaccinated teachers and wants them to return to schools with RT-PCR negative reports. The teachers who refuse to get vaccinated on non-medical grounds should undergo RT-PCR test every week, it said. Even unvaccinated employees in other government departments need to go through the same procedure. The government has also decided to classify unvaccinated persons as ineligible for free Covid treatment. Kerala has been providing free treatment to all Covid patients, but the facility will now be restricted to the vaccinated alone.

While these decisions have raised questions of individual freedom and choice, the government, at the moment, cannot afford to take chances. Making vaccination mandatory for all is not an option as that would be violative of the fundamental rights guaranteed by Articles 14, 19 and 21 of the Constitution. In fact, the Meghalaya High Court on June 23 and the Gauhati High Court on July 2 issued two significant orders that nullified the efforts of the Meghalaya and Mizoram governments to make a "vaccine passport" mandatory for adult citizens. The courts cautioned the governments against discrimination based on vaccine status. In this context, the Kerala government's decision to insist on periodic RT-PCR tests for the unvaccinated employees, instead of going for any other punitive measure, is a wise move. With the health of lakhs of children at stake, the government is duty-bound to make schools safer in the time of a pandemic. While one can only hope that the measures adopted would encourage people to shun vaccine hesitancy, what is shocking is the lack of scientific temper even among the state's teacher community. Staying away from vaccination, for religious reasons, is not the lesson a teacher should be imparting.

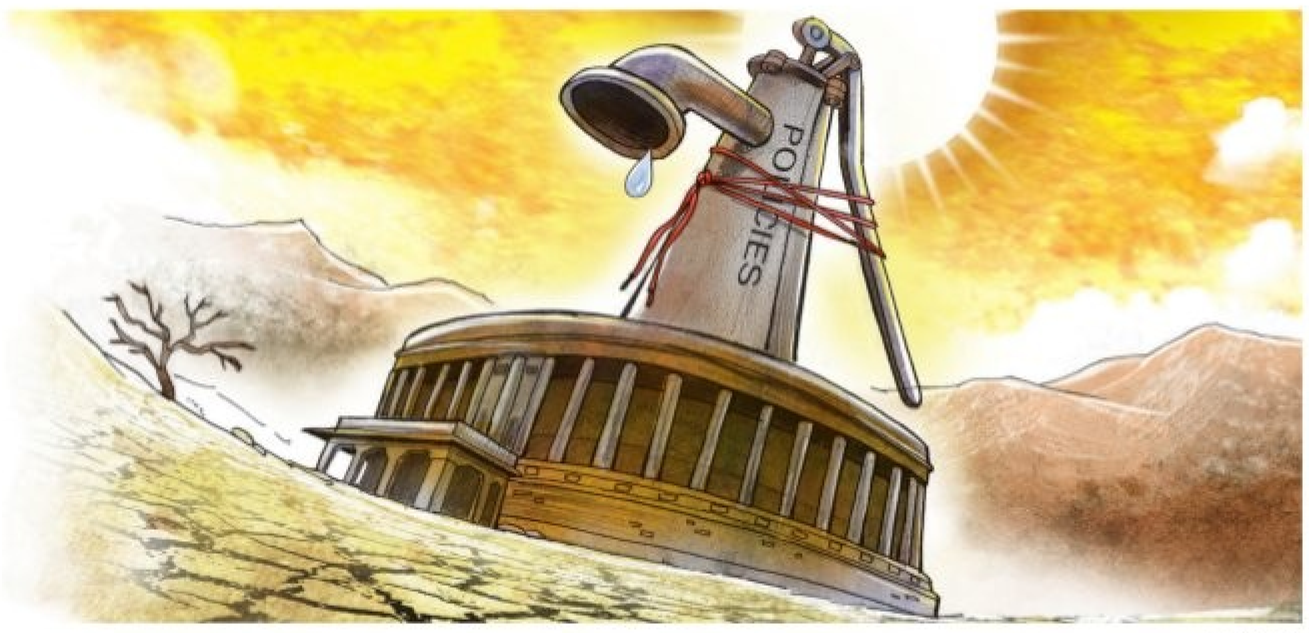
BALL IN KCR'S COURT ON TARIFF HIKE

The Telangana State Road Transport Corporation (TSRTC) and the two power distribution companies (DISCOMS) in the state have one thing in common: They are incurring heavy losses year after year. The state government allows them to languish as any decision to either increase the power tariff or bus fares might result in a political backlash against the ruling TRS. Now, with the two millstones having become too heavy, the state government is reluctantly trying to hike fares and tariffs. The DISCOMS have already submitted the aggregate revenue requirements to the Telangana State Electricity Regulatory Commission (TSERC) for 2021–22 and 2022–23, while the total revenue gap for the same period is estimated to be ₹21,552 crore. The present mess can be attributed to the decision of not raising tariffs in the last six years. Even now, the DISCOMS are walking on eggshells when it comes to increasing them. It is possible that for the next financial year they would hike tariffs to net ₹2,000–₹4,000 crore. The lump sum hike might upset people, which the government can ill afford as the next Assembly polls are due in 2023.

When it comes to the TSRTC, the cumulative loss for the last three years is ₹4,260 crore. The mess is partly the management's own making as it had never bothered to improve its internal efficiency while other factors like Covid-19 and the 52-day strike by employees in 2019 too played a role. Now, the TSRTC has sent proposals to the government for hiking fares by 25 paise per km for Palle Velugu buses and 30 paise per km for other services to net ₹850 crore, which is just a drop in the bucket. The two public sector undertakings cannot be brought back on the rails unless politically bold decisions are taken. The utilities need not earn profits but at least they should not slip into the quicksand of more losses. The TSERC had observed: "In order to bridge the revenue gap and strengthen the financial position of the DISCOMS there is a need to enhance the retail supply tariff." The same is the case with the TSRTC too. Now the ball is in the CM's court.

For almost every sector of the economy, governments have laid down clear policies. But for farming, they never went beyond a draft prepared by the NDA at the turn of the millennium

INDIA NEEDS A COMPREHENSIVE AGRI POLICY



AMIT BANDRE

BISWAJIT DHAR
Professor, Centre for Economic Studies and Planning, School of Social Sciences, JNU

The repealing of the three controversial legislations by the Government of India must be seen as a victory for the Indian farmers, especially because policymakers were not able to convince the cultivators that the legislations were enacted to serve their interests. At the same time, this episode also serves as a reminder to the policymakers that laws and policies must be enacted after detailed consultations with all stakeholders and after giving due consideration to the interests of all concerned. In a country that has seen decades of discussions on the importance of people-centred development, it is time that policymakers adopt this framework for betterment of citizens.

There is no doubt that the absence of a people-centred development has hurt the agriculture sector the most. Standing testimony to this fact is that while for almost every sector of the economy, the governments had laid down clear sectoral policies, starting with the Industrial Policy in 1948 followed by its detailed version in 1956, agricultural policy never went beyond a draft that was prepared by the NDA government at the turn of the millennium. It must be pointed out here that in the US and members of the EU, where the workforce dependent on agriculture has been fast decreasing over the past few decades and is currently just 1% and 4% respectively, agricultural policies are regularly enacted. In the US, Farm Acts are enacted nearly every five years, while the EU members adopt their Common Agricultural Policy every decade. However, in India, where well over 50% of the workforce is still directly or indirectly dependent on agriculture, none of the governments at the Centre initiated a process of enacting farm policies in consultation with the state governments.

The lack of a comprehensive set of policies has seriously affected India's agriculture in many different ways, which was extensively documented by this author along with Roshan Kishore ("Indian agriculture needs a holistic policy framework, not pro-market reforms"). It was pointed out that agriculture in post-independent India never experienced a high-growth phase unlike several sectors in the non-agricultural economy. The highest decadal growth for agriculture has been just 3.5% in the 1980s. This was in sharp contrast to non-agricultural growth, which consistently increased between the 1980s and the 2000s, before declining in the previous decade.

In the mid-1960s, Indian agriculture was in deep crisis, which was overcome through the introduction of the Green Revolution. However, the benefits of new technology in terms of higher output growth could not be reaped until the 1980s, and this growth could not be sustained in the following decades. This also clearly shows that economic reforms had bypassed the farm sector.

Among the contributory factors to the low growth syndrome was inadequate irrigation facility. By 2015–16, over half of the gross cropped area under principal crops was still unirrigated. Moreover, of the 29 states and Union territories for which data were available, in 21, the coverage of irrigated area under principal crops was lower than the national average. The relatively slow spread of irrigation facilities in the country reflects inadequate infrastructure supporting agriculture, which, in turn, was a result of deficient investment in this sector. While in the 1950s, agriculture's share in the total investment in the country was about a quarter, this figure fell sharply to around 6% in 2018–19.

In the US, Farm Acts are enacted every five years, while the EU members adopt their Common Agricultural Policy every decade. In India, none of the governments at the Centre initiated a process of enacting farm policies in consultation with the state governments

Inadequate investment coupled with diminishing funding for agricultural research over the decades meant growing inefficiencies in this sector. This can be seen from the fact that although India is among the top producers of all major food crops, it is considerably behind countries having the highest levels of yields, according to data provided by the Food and Agricultural Organization. For example, India's rice yield in 2019 was 2.7 tonnes per hectare as compared to Australia's 8.8 tonnes per hectare, while India's wheat yield was 3.5 tonnes per hectare as against Ireland's 9.4 tonnes per hectare. When inefficiencies have gripped the sector, should it be a surprise that agriculture has faced adverse terms of trade vis-a-vis non-agricultural sectors during the 1980s and for most years since the mid-2000s, and further that 99.43% of farm holdings in India are cultivated by "low income or resource poor farmers", according to the information provided by the government to the WTO? Do these facts leave any scope for contesting the claims of the farmers that agriculture has become a loss-making occupation?

The farmers may have won a battle against the agriculture laws, but they stand to lose in the long run if they do not initiate a dialogue with the government for the adoption of a comprehensive agricultural policy, which can reverse the neglect that they have faced over the past decades. This would be one major step for improving their lives and livelihoods.

ART IS NOT AS PURE AS WE THINK IT IS

CHANDRAN T V
Art critic & author. Teaches art history at the College of Fine Arts, Thiruvananthapuram

Until the early 1960s in India, "an expressionist realism of different shades" actively participated in the "enactment of modernism" with the idea of social transformation through works, says art critic Geeta Kapur. Artists with this commitment were M F Husain, Ram Kumar, Satish Gujral and others. In the 1960s, however, this stream suddenly seems to have drained off. The aesthetics of the powerful played a crucial role in this shift.

Soon after the Second World War, New York suddenly emerged as a centre of world art with the introduction of a new style of painting called Abstract Expressionism. Flat application of paint on unprecedentedly large canvasses with no identifiable image are the hallmarks of this new style. Conceptually Abstract Expressionism seeks to eliminate from the work any literal content or subject matter.

As atrocities and historic tragedies unfurled in the forms of the First World War, Great Depression, Nazism, Stalinism and the Second World War, artists found themselves stripped off their representational means and the social function of art. They had no more hope that "there will be a better tomorrow". This historic disillusionment resulted in the 'contentlessness' of their works, which in effect became unintelligible. The unintelligibility, as German intellectual Theodor Adorno says, is the very content of the works under modernism that destructs the hierarchy of meaning and intelligibility. This assumes significance in a philosophical sense but at the same time, it reduces the aesthetic experience to mere paint or "painterly paintings" in the case of Abstract Expressionism. Because, it is not the painting but the gesture of the painter to be looked at. "The gesture on the canvas was", says Harold Rosenberg, "of liberation from value—political, aesthetic, moral. The artist's rejection of all values stems out of his pessimism that the world would not be different and better". Therefore, "he wanted his canvas to be a world". This theoretical legitimation may sound meaningful in many ways, but this alone does not account for how Abstract Expressionism was accepted across the world as an advance in modern art.

Even before this new style came to the limelight, the biggest American gallery, the Museum of Modern Art (MoMA) in New York, a Rockefeller-backed institution, bought most of its works. Soon after, MoMA conducted numerous large-scale exhibitions of Abstract Expressionism in America, Europe and Asian countries including India. This series of curated shows consistently made use of eminent art critics and historians for theorising and contextualising this American style of abstraction as opposed to that which emerged decades earlier in Europe. As a result of this artist-gallery-critic nexus, by the mid-1950s, Abstract Expressionism was established not only as an important movement but as an "advance" in art in such a way that any criticism against it was severely suppressed by the critics, collectors, publishers, university professors and so on almost in a totalitarian way. John Canaday's criticism and many letters to the editor in The New York Times bear testimony to this fact.

There was another turn of events that came to coincide with these developments. During this period, the American government came to realise that Abstract Expressionism with its 'contentlessness' could be utilised as an effective tool in the propaganda against the USSR and the Soviet bloc, if it was given a cultural centrality. With this orientation, MoMA's international programme, as art historian Russell Lynes says, was overtly political: "To let it be known especially in Europe that America was not the cultural backwater that the Russians, during the … Cold War, were trying to demonstrate that it was." In addition to it, as Abstract Expressionism celebrated unrestrained freedom and individualism of artists, it was also going in tune with the value system of American capitalism and imperialism as opposed to individual and artistic freedom suppressed in the communist regime.

During the mid-1950s, the US government came to realise that Abstract Expressionism with its 'contentlessness' could be utilised as an effective tool in the propaganda against the USSR and the Soviet bloc, if it was given a cultural centrality

The absence of an overt subject matter being equated with an artist's political neutrality may sound very simplistic. Rather it was recognised by the American establishments engaged in the Cold War that dissenting intellectuals who believe themselves to be acting freely could be useful tools in shaping international propaganda in favour of America.

When American cultural establishments propagated Abstract Expressionism as an "advance" and quintessential form of modern art, "those who had been part of the school of Paris, among them some of the best Indian artists of the 1950s, turned sympathetically to New York in the 1960s" (Geeta Kapur). The US agenda to export cultural freedom to India under the guise of scholarships also presumably exerted considerable influence on Indian artists to give up their earlier social commitment. As Geeta Kapur puts it, "Fellowships for artists' residencies in New York were made available in the 1960s and 1970s to well-known Indian artists by J D Rockefeller III Fund as a kind of postscript to its blatant strategies of intervention in Latin America; and the American side was highlighted by Clement Greenberg's visit to India in 1967", when he accompanied the international touring exhibition of 'Two Decades of American Painting' sent by MoMA.

Various forms of abstraction persistently appeared in the period between the 1960s and 80s in the works of major Indian artists like V S Gaitonde, Ram Kumar, Raza, Jehangir Sabawala, Akbar Padamsee, J Swaminathan, K C S Panicker and many others. By issuing folk/ritual motifs in their modernist visual vocabulary they all sought to evoke a sense of Indianness. But its root may also be traced back to Abstract Expressionism. To justify the fascination for the flat surface, abstract expressionists looked at the Oriental, primitive and children's art as instances of universality and naturalness, two-dimensionality and decorativeness. Indianness or indigenism as manifested in the abstraction thus largely seems to be a gloss over a style which was projected as the symbol of freedom for political ends. Contemporary art, too, is not much free from such ideological laundering.

Why CBI probe is needed

The reason why a CBI probe is usually demanded by victims was once again made clear when those earmarked as witnesses by the local police turned out to be the accused in the Periya murder case (Dec 2). The Kerala government had spent a huge amount of public money in this case to defend party functionaries. The Kerala police personnel would also have pinpointed the same persons as accused had they been given a free hand in investigation. The experience of IPS officer Radhakrishnan had recently been highlighted in this newspaper. He was even denied pension for not yielding to pressure from the ruling party.

Dr M Haneef, Kottayam

Convincing the voters

After meeting the NCP supremo in Mumbai, Mamata Banerjee has averred that the UPA exists no more (Dec 2). The West Bengal CM is factually right in her assertion. However, Sharad Pawar, who also addressed the media after her, only emphasised the opposition unity to fight against the BJP. Pawar cannot speak against the Congress since his party has an alliance with it in Maharashtra. Mamata should realise that the TMC is, despite attempts to make forays in other states, a regional outfit confined mostly to Bengal. In other states where it does not matter, it can only provide moral support to opposition parties. In Bengal itself, it cannot think of having an alliance with parties like the CPM for instance. Further, opposing the BJP only on the alleged grounds that it is 'fascist' may not convince much of the electorate; the opposition should also have a common minimum programme that is acceptable to the people.

Reward analytical thinking

This is with reference to What is it that makes Indians do better abroad (Dec 2). The elevation of Parag Agrawal to the helm of Twitter and similar appointments in other leading companies show that international firms and universities encourage and reward analytical thinking. Many talented young Indian professionals in various fields at home are left without recognition like a 'flower born to blush unseen and waste its sweetness in the desert air'.

R Pichumani, Kumbakonam

Creativity not tolerated

The observations made in the editorial are very true. Creativity is never tolerated in many academic institutions and even punished in a subtle manner. Divergent thinking is viewed as arrogance, especially while working with a less intelligent higher official, and the struggle faced by brilliant subordinates with original thoughts cannot be described in words. If a conducive work atmosphere is ensured, the output will be far better in higher education institutions in India too.

Jagan has done well

The editorial The jury is still out on Jagan at halftime (Dec 2) has rightly assessed the performance of the AP government as neither outstanding nor poor. This means it has done good. The three capitals U-turn was needed and a new proposal can now be brought out. The other important issue to tackle is the ₹3 lakh crore debt that the state has incurred during his watch.

Entry points alerted, increased focus on vaccination

Health minister holds meeting with airport and port officials on emerging threat of Omicron, experts evaluate booster dose pros and cons

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE government is getting increasingly serious about the Omicron threat. On a day India reported its first two cases of the new Covid-19 variant, health minister Mansukh Mandaviya held a meeting with airport, port health officers and other authorities over screening and surveillance at the points of entry.

According to sources, the health ministry has advised the states and Union Territories to undertake surveillance of all international passengers coming to the country through various airports. Testing of samples of international travellers coming from At Risk countries on the first day and of specified category of passengers on the eighth day needs to be done, it had stressed.

The Centre also said scientific reasoning for booster vaccine doses is under examination but the priority is to ensure complete vaccination of the eligible population with both doses. In a media briefing, Health Joint Secretary Lav Agarwal said, "The scientific reasoning for boosters at what timing for which vaccine all that is under examination. Our priority is to complete the task of administering both doses and this is the strategy which will give us the best dividend," he said.

On the significance of vaccination in view of the new variant, NITI Aayog member (Health) Dr VK Paul said despite this new challenge, vaccination remains the most critical tool. "We are fortunate that we have the tool (vaccination) in plenty and there is no doubt that coverage of vaccines has to increase. Look at the big picture, we must protect every eligible individual with this tool," he said. "We are benefited by two doses and people should get the second dose as soon as possible. The decision on duration between doses is based on scientific data and local data in a systematic manner, and there is no change in the present duration," Paul said.

On the contact tracing approach in relation to individuals detected with Omicron in India, Dr Sujeet Kumar Singh, Director of National Centre for Disease Control, said the government is tracing primary, secondary and tertiary contacts. "Remote contacts are also being traced," said Singh.

Confirmation of Omicron in India is not unexpected... People must wear well-fitting mask which covers their nose & mouth well, keep distance, avoid poorly ventilated or crowded spaces, keep hands clean, cover cough & sneeze & get vaccinated.

Poonam Khetrapal Singh, WHO

The most important question in Omicron context is that its characteristics, effect and impact is still under study not just in India but all across the world. We are closely observing the scientific studies. As details come, more decisions would be taken

Dr VK Paul, Niti Aayog

We need not panic about the detection of the Omicron variant (in India) but awareness is absolutely essential. Follow Covid-appropriate behaviour and avoid mass gatherings. Do not delay in getting fully vaccinated

Dr Balram Bhargava, ICMR

WHO ON OMICRON

TRANSMISSION

Early data suggest an increased growth rate, but not yet known if Omicron is more transmissible compared to other Variants of Concern, including Delta

SEVERETY

① Mild to severe

② Early to assess whether infection causes more or less severe disease compared other variants, including Delta

③ Increasing rates of hospitalisation in South Africa, but this may reflect force of infection, rather than increased virulence

THERAPEUTICS

Clinical management for patients with severe Covid-19 remains unchanged.

VACCINES

① Impact on vaccines is not yet known. Evidence still evolving

② While we may see more mild breakthrough infections from Omicron, there may not be the same impact on severe disease, mediated by T-cells

SITUATION IN INDIA

① Total international flights landed: 37 flights from midnight of December 1 till 8 am on December 2

② No of passengers from At Risk countries: 7,976. All administered RT-PCR tests

③ Covid-19 positive: 10 passengers. Samples collected for genome surveillance

Maharashtra revises guidelines for international & domestic arrivals

Mumbai: After the Central government raised an objection, the Maharashtra government revised its Covid-19 guidelines for international and domestic passengers in the wake of the emergence of the Omicron variant. According to the revised order, international passengers coming from South Africa, Bostwana and Zimbabwe to Maharashtra will have to undergo mandatory RT-PCR tests and seven days of institutional quarantine. The second RT-PCR test will be carried out on the seventh day of quarantine. Those returning positive tests will be hospitalised. If negative, these passengers will undergo seven days of home quarantine. Domestic air passengers will either have to be fully vaccinated or produce negative reports of RT-PCR tests done 72 hours earlier. If the person is coming to Maharashtra from other than high-risk countries, they will have to provide last 15 days of travel history. The Union health ministry had sent a letter on December 1, urging the Maharashtra government to align with the orders given in the wake of the new variant.

India terms UN rights body's J&K stand biased

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

India on Thursday termed the UN Human Rights body's criticism of Kashmiri activist Khurram Parvez's arrest as "baseless" and unfounded". India took strong exception to the Geneva-based Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR) referring to terrorist groups as "armed groups".

Responding to media queries regarding a statement issued on Wednesday by UN Human Rights Office spokesperson Rupert Colville, Ministry of External Affairs spokesperson Arindam Bagchi said, "The statement makes baseless and unfounded allegations against law enforcement authorities and security forces of India and betrays a complete lack of understanding on the part of the OHCHR of the security challenges faced by India from cross-border terrorism and its impact on the most fundamental human right 'the Right to Life' of our citizens including in J&K."

Bagchi accused OHCHR of having a bias and said the reference of proscribed terrorist organisations as 'armed groups' clearly demonstrated this bias. He urged the OHCHR to develop a better understanding of the negative impact of terrorism on human rights and said, "as a democratic country, with an abiding commitment to promote and protect the human rights of its citizens, India takes all necessary steps to counter cross border terrorism. Authorities in India act against violations of law."

Protests continue but Opposition decides to join debates

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Opposition on Thursday continued with their protests in Rajya Sabha over the suspension of 12 MPs, but decided to participate in debates on important legislations in order to not let the Centre pass bills without discussion.

The Upper House was adjourned during the first half with the Opposition seeking revocation of the suspension orders. The 12 MPs continued to sit on dharna near the Gandhi statue in Parliament. Other MPs wore black armbands before taking their seats in the House. Rajya Sabha's Leader of Opposition Mallikarjun Kharge of Congress raised the issue of suspension and some Opposition parties walked out to register their protest.

Rajya Sabha Chairman Venkaiah Naidu said there were suspensions in the past and some of them were revoked prematurely after the errant members expressed regret for their misconduct in the House.

"Deeply pained to know from media reports of categorical refusals to express regret for the acts of misconduct during the last session that led to suspensions. Then what is the way forward? I urge both sides of this august House to talk it out and let the House do it's mandated job," said Naidu.

The Opposition floor leaders decided to allow taking up legislative business and participated in the Dam Safety Bill.

The Telangana Rashtra Samithi (TRS) said they have decided to boycott the proceedings over farmer issues. "It was a united decision that the Opposition should take up the matter of suspension of MPs in the House but participate in legislative business. Otherwise, it will give a free hand to the government to pass bills without discussion," said an Opposition MP.

The suspended MPs include six from Congress, two each from TMC and Shiv Sena and one each from CPI and CPI (M). This is the first time that 12 MPs have been suspended in one go in the Rajya Sabha for the remainder of the session.

MANMOHAN TO MISS ENTIRE SESSION

Former PM Manmohan Singh has taken leave of absence for the entire winter session of Parliament on health grounds, Rajya Sabha Chairman M Venkaiah Naidu said. He asked if Singh has the House's permission to remain absent during the current session, to which members said yes.

Omicron dominates Lok Sabha talks

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

With Lok Sabha resuming normal functioning on Thursday, members took up a discussion on the Covid-19 pandemic, with MPs expressing concerns about the Omicron variant. They pressed the government for expediting vaccinations.

Opposition MPs called upon the government to stay alert about the threat posed by the new variant, with Congress leader Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury claiming it is infectious than the previous variants which affected the country. He said experts are saying that the Omicron variant is more dangerous than Delta which created havoc in India in April.

Shiv Sena MP Vinayak Rout alleged that the Central government favoured the BJP-ruled states in arranging Covid-19 response facilities during the pandemic. The Lok Sabha took up the discussion under Rule 193, which doesn't entail voting. Shrirang Appa Barne alleged that 50 per cent of the ventilators given to Maharashtra aren't yet functional.

Trinamool Congress MP Saugata Roy cautioned the government of Omicron. "After Alpha, Delta, now the Omicron variant has come up. The country did stand up to Coronavirus. We have got doctors and COVID warriors. We need to be alert."

Health minister Mansukh Madaviya received praise for his work during the second wave, from the BSP MP Danish Ali, who, however, charged that political rallies and elections in West Bengal and Uttar Pradesh could have been avoided in the face of the pandemic. Ali said that there should be accountability on spendings under the PM CARES Fund.

Scribes protest entry clamps

New Delhi: A protest was staged by journalists on Thursday against restrictions imposed on their access to cover Parliament sessions. The journalists, associated with the Press Club of India, Editors Guild of India, Press Association, Indian Women's Press Corps, Delhi Union of Journalists, Working News Cameramen Association, Kerala Union of Working Journalists, Kerala Press Club and Indian Journalists Union, demanded immediate lifting of restrictions. A memorandum of demands for restoring entry of journalists with permanent and seasonal passes to the press gallery Central Hall was submitted to Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla.

Bill passed amid dissent

New Delhi: The Dam Safety Bill for surveillance, inspection, operation and maintenance of specified dams across the country was passed with several Opposition parties demanding that it needs scrutiny and cautioned that the Bill encroaches upon the sovereignty of states. Several Rajya Sabha members asked for the Bill to be referred to a Select Committee of the House but the motion was rejected with 80 members opposing it and 26 members in support. Congress, DMK, TMC, BJD and others expressed concerns about the Bill in its present form and argued that since water is a state subject, dam safety should fall under state jurisdiction.

164 collegium proposals to appoint judges are pending: Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Centre has told the Rajya Sabha that it has appointed nine Supreme Court judges and 118 judges were appointed to various high courts.

Minister of Law and Justice, Kiren Rijiju told Rajya Sabha that as on November 29, 164 proposals from high court collegium are pending between the government and Supreme Court collegium. The Centre also said 55 proposals have been returned by the government to the high courts following the advice of the Supreme Court collegium.

John Brittas, MP from the Communist Party of India (Marxist), asked about appointment of judges and number of proposals sent by the collegium and accepted or rejected by the Union government. The law minister says, "Government appoints only those persons as judges of high courts who are recommended by the Supreme Court collegium. The total number of high court collegium proposals which are at various stages of consideration between the government and Supreme Court collegium, as of 29 November 2021, is 164. The number of proposals which have been remitted or returned by the government to the high courts on the advice of the Supreme Court collegium is 55 during the current year."

Also, there is no woman Chief Justice in any high court in the country, it was said. There are more than 4.36 lakh cases pending before courts across India and there are 5,598 vacancies in the judiciary, including the Supreme Court, high courts and district and subordinate courts.

"Supreme Court has 70,038 cases pending as of 8 November, 2021, while the high courts and district and subordinate courts have 56.43 lakh and 3.79 crore cases, respectively, pending as of 29 November 2021," the written reply states.

Kishor's 'leadership not divine right of an individual' dig at Congress causes storm

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

POLL strategist Prashant Kishor took a dig at the family leadership in Congress on Thursday. Without naming anyone, Kishor said the grand old party's leadership is not the 'divine right' of any individual. Congress downplayed it, saying that an election strategist can't dictate the party's political agenda.

Considering that Kishor designed the TMC's campaign before the West Bengal elections this year and Mamata Banerjee's current aggressive stand against Congress, the former's comment assumes significance. Interestingly, Kishor of late has been in touch with top Congress leaders including Rahul.

"The IDEA and SPACE that #Congress represents is vital for a strong opposition. But Congress' leadership is not the DIVINE RIGHT of an individual, especially when the party has lost more than 90% elections in last 10 years," Kishor tweeted. "Let opposition leadership be decided democratically," he added. This comes after the TMC claiming it is the country's major anti-BJP force.

Political observers felt Kishor's comment is significant. "TMC seems to be not only attacking Congress, but also demoralising it over family-ruled leadership. It appears that TMC believes Congress is an obstacle in its part to emerging the main opposition ahead of 2024," said Dr RK Verma, political researcher-cum-analyst.

Congress's national spokesperson Pawan Khera tweeted: "A professional without ideological commitments is free to advise on how to contest elections but he cannot set the agenda of our politics".

SPEAKER NOTICE FOR DEFECTORS

Guwahati: Meghalaya Assembly Speaker Metbah Lyngdoh has issued notices to 10 of the 12 Congress turncoats seeking their comments on a disqualification petition against them by the grand old party. These MLAs were given seven days to reply. Congress MLA Ampareen Lyngdoh filed the disqualification petition against the 10 legislators. A similar petition will be filed against the remaining two MLAs soon.

Mamata, Pawar look at post-poll Cong role

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

WEST Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee has apparently told NCP chief Sharad Pawar during their meeting in Mumbai that Congress should not be part of the alliance of regional parties before the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, but it can join the group afterwards.

According to sources, the meeting between Pawar and Mamata lasted over 30 minutes. "Mamata said Congress is a weak force and not in a position to take on BJP. Besides, there are regional forces who do not want to align with Congress. Aligning with Congress damages their poll prospects. If Congress is kept aside, regional forces can come together and take on the BJP in their states," sources said.

Another NCP source said once regional forces like TMC in West Bengal, NCP and Shiv Sena in Maharashtra, TRS in Telangana, YSR in Andhra Pradesh, Left in Kerala, Biju Janta Dal in Odisha, Samajwadi Party in Uttar Pradesh, AAP in Delhi, DMK in Tamil Nadu can easily win over 200 Lok Sabha seats collectively.

"There is no point supporting Congress candidates in the strongholds of regional parties. Congress is already weak there. And, regional parties have shown that they can defeat the BJP if all resources are attached. Therefore, alliance with Congress should take place in the post-poll phase, not before polls," said a confidante of NCP chief Pawar.

Our daughters are now safe under Yogi: Shah

Says Uttar Pradesh no more witnesses riots while law and order situation had never been so robust in the past

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

PATTING the back of the Uttar Pradesh chief minister, Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Thursday launched a scathing attack on previous governments saying that the law and order situation was the best under Yogi Adityanath.

At Punwarka village in Saharanpur in the presence of Yogi, Union Minister Dharmendra Pradhan, Deputy CM Dinesh Sharma among others, he drew parallel of the current law and order scenario with what it used to be under governments and substantiated his claims with the statistics.

"I was listening to Akhilesh Yadav's speech on TV. He says that crime has increased. Akhilesh*ji*, what spectacles do you use? I have brought figures to compare the law and order during the five-year tenure of the SP government and Yogi Adityanath," Shah said, claiming that dacoity was down by 70 per cent. "Incidents of looting, by the use of weapons, have gone down by 69 per cent. Murders went down by 30 per cent. Deaths due to dowry have gone down by 22.5 per cent." Shah exhorted SP chief to check the data. "During your rule, there was mafia rule in UP. Today, law rules in the state."

Lauding the Yogi government for ensuring the security of girls, Shah asserted there was a time when only riots were reported and girls were sent to other states for studies. "Today, no daughter in western UP has to go outside for studies. Nobody dares to misbehave with them."

> I was listening to Akhilesh Yadav's speech on TV. He says that crime has increased. ... I have brought figures to compare the law and order during the tenure of the SP government and Yogi Adityanath
>
> Amit Shah,
> Union home minister

In the run up to the 2017 elections, Shah had started the BJP campaign by taking out a Parivartan Yatra following which it emerged victorious with overwhelming support. The scenario is different this time as western UP is said to be miffed with the BJP on the contentious farm laws.

Shah asserted the BJP fulfilled all its promises while ensuring that "those responsible" for exodus exit the state. The issue of exodus had assumed significant political overtones in 2017 following reports of migration of some Hindus from Kairana.

For sugarcane growers of western UP, Shah assured them of a fair CBI probe into the sale of sugar mills of the region during the BSP rule.

Moradabad brass industry lost its lustre due to wrong policies of govt: Priyanka

LUCKNOW: Congress general-secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra on Thursday asserted that her party would contest the Uttar Pradesh election on the plank of development.

Recalling the days of her grand father-in-law who had migrated to Moradabad at the time of Partition, Priyanka attacked the Yogi government by drawing parallel between the condition of traders then with the current times.

At her party's Pratigya Rally, she claimed that the government had destroyed business and the businessmen of Moradabad through demonetization and GST. "GST made the way difficult for businessmen while the wages of artisans were reduced to half. This was compounded by the price rise of raw material due to sky rocketing fuel prices," she said.

Moradabad, famous for its brass work, has turned into an 'andher nagari', she said.

If the Congress came to power, she announced, that it would provide 20 lakh jobs and open manufacturing hubs in all the 75 districts of Uttar Pradesh."Congress will contest elections on basis of development, and will provide 20 lakh jobs. Manufacturing hub will open in every district."

Priyanka also claimed that it was only her party which was taking up development issues while others are playing the caste and religion cards.

She accused PM Modi of not paying respect to the farmers who died in agitation against the farm laws. "It will take only ₹4,000 cr for clearing all dues of sugar cane farmers. PM Modi bought private aircraft for ₹8,000 cr last year during the Covid pandemic. The Centre is paying ₹20,000 cr for beautification of Parliament but doesn't have money to clear dues of farmers," she added. ENS

Bundelkhand will vote for change, claims Akhilesh

LUCKNOW: On the second day of the fifth leg of his Vijay Rath Yatra covering Bundelkhand region, Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav raked up the issues related to the farmers promising them that they would not have to face any shortage of fertiliser if his party was voted to power in 2022. At a public gathering in Lalitpur, Akhilesh reminded the people that he had given away houses to homeless under the Lohia Awas Yojna during his tenure as chief minister. He claimed that the people of Bundelkhand were set to fail all the tactics of BJP this time in the elections as change was inevitable. "There has been a lot of damage due to drought. We will try to reduce the problems faced by the people of Bundelkhand." " SP ally Om Prakash Rajbhar said that if Akhilesh was voted back to power, 300 units of electricity would be provided free to the people.

Mumbai's former top cop suspended

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

THE Maharashtra government on Thursday suspended former Mumbai Police commissioner and Director General of state Home Guard Param Bir Singh and another police officer with immediate effect.

After returning from 22 days of hospitalisation, Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray cleared the file for suspension of Param Bir, a 1988-batch IPS officer, for various lapses and irregularities, including unauthorised absence from duty. The file will now be sent to Union home ministry for approval. The action has been taken as per the All-India Services (discipline and appeal) Rules 1969.

Orders have been sent to Maharashtra DGP to serve the suspension on Param Bir and Parag Shyma Manere, additional police superintendent, excise, in Nagpur, against who an FIR is registered.

The suspension order says that during the period, Param Bir should not leave his headquarters, the office of DG Home Guard, without permission of the DGP.

After being appointed Home Guard chief, Param Bir went on leave on health grounds. The leave granted to him was till August 29, but even after that he failed to join duty, sources said. He is facing a slew of FIRs in Mumbai, Thane and other suburbs in connection with extortion and blackmailing. His alleged role in seizure of explosives outside Mukesh Ambani's residence and murder of Thane businessman Mansukh Hiren is under probe.

In September, DGP Sanjay Pandey had sent a proposal to the state home department to suspend 25 officers, including Param Bir, booked on charges of extortion. The file was sent back by additional chief secretary (home) Manukumar Shrivastava who wanted specific roles to be defined.

Thereafter, a proposal to suspend Param Bir and a DCP was moved and was cleared by Home Minister Dilip Walse Patil, but was awaiting a final nod from the Maharashtra chief minister.

Teesta Setalvad defaming state: Gujarat govt to SC

New Delhi: There is a larger conspiracy 'orchestrated' by Teesta Setalvad to defame Gujarat for almost two decades, the state told the apex court while arguing on Zakia Jafri's petition relating to the 2002 riots. Solicitor General Tushar Mehta told a SC bench that he has nothing to say against Zakia Jafri as she has lost her kin but added there has to be a 'limit of exploiting' the miseries of a widow.

Punjab CM gives himself full marks, takes dig at rivals

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

PUNJAB Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi on Thursday took potshots at his political rivals and patted his own back for delivering the goods within just one-and-a-half months of being in power.

"People say it's Channi government; I say it's a 'changi' (good) government," he said while presenting the report card related to status of implementation of government decisions made during past 72 days since he assumed office on September 20.

As many as 60 decisions had been implemented in letter and spirit during the period, the CM said. "I am here to give a report card before people, to give full account. We have formed government to serve people. We will work with full honesty and transparency. What I say, I will deliver," he said.

Claiming that he had earned people's trust for fulfilling the promises made, Channi, in a veiled dig at his opponents, said, "I am not 'Ailanjeet' (announcement maker) but 'Vishwajeet' (someone who has won over people)."

Training guns at AAP chief Arvind Kejriwal, Channi said he was misleading people with false promises to grab power in the state. Channi advised Kejriwal not to be envious of his pro-people agenda and implement his model of welfare and development in his own state.

Channi said comparisons cannot be drawn between him and 'outsider' Kejriwal. "He can't compete with me in understanding Punjab."

Sukhbir attacks BJP

Shiromani Akali Dal president Sukhbir Singh Badal described the tactics used to facilitate Manjinder Singh Sirsa' entry into the BJP as a direct attack on Khalsa Panth. "This is BJP's revenge against us for standing by our principles and for quitting the Cabinet to stand by farmers.'' But the Akalis were not worried about the results that would follow, he said. "Repression cannot break us. The Mughals, the British and the Congress tried it. The whole world knows what the outcome was."

N-E insurgent group sends feelers for peace

GUWAHATI: Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma indicated that the Kamtapur Liberation Organisation (KLO), an insurgent group, has made peace overtures with the government.

The outfit's leaders, who operate from Myanmar, are believed to have sent feelers to the government to join the mainstream. "In Continuation with Govt of India's efforts to bring lasting peace in the region, I welcome the desire of KLO leadership to join mainstream at an early date to resolve all issues through political dialogues," Sarma tweeted.

"Assam will fully reciprocate the KLO's goodwill gesture.''

Over the past few years, several insurgent groups in the Northeast signed peace accords and were disbanded. In Assam, the ULFA-Paresh Baruah faction is lying low after announcing a unilateral ceasefire. In Nagaland, all, except one group, are in a peace mode. Similarly in Manipur, barring four-five groups, the remaining over 30 others are lying low. ENS

Arunachal may evict Hajongs and Chakmas, alleges outfit

GUWAHATI: A foundation has petitioned PM Narendra Modi and RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat against the alleged racial profiling of 65,000 Chakmas and Hajongs in Arunachal Pradesh.

The Chakma Development Foundation of India (CDFI) alleged the Arunachal government would carry out an exercise of these two communities from December 11 with the aim to drive them out of the state.

On December 1, the Extra Assistant Commissioner (EAC) of Diyun circle had held at meeting with Chakma and Hajong leaders days after, what the CDFI claimed, the Changlang district magistrate notified the "Census of Chakmas and Hajongs 2021" whose report is to be submitted to the government on or before December 31.

"This exclusive census is an act of racial profiling as only the Chakmas and Hajongs are being singled out," Suhas Chakma of the CDFI claimed.

But, Changlang DM Devansh Yadav said no census was happening now. He said the local groups had no issues. Similar exercises happened in 2010 and 2015, he added. ENS

KASHMIR PARTIES IN RACE TO DISCREDIT OPPONENTS OVER BJP LINKS

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

SENSING the changed scenario after the abrogation of Article 370, political parties in Kashmir are caught in one-upmanship in raking up the past and present connections of their rivals with the BJP.

As recent as 2019, the PDP and the National Conference were the main players in the Valley. Post abrogation of Article 370, J&K Apni Party of former PDP leader Altaf Bukhari and former minister Sajjad Lone's Peoples Conference have gained ground in Kashmir. And now with the possibility of elections in mid-2022 after the completion of delimitation exercise, the old parties are trying to portray the two new entrants as "King's Parties" or "BJP's B Team".

PDP chief Mehbooba Mufti, who is very critical of Article 370 revocation, recently said BJP is creating proxy parties by dividing the regional parties in J&K.

Reacting to Mehbooba's allegations, Bukhari said the PDP's emergence in 1999 was also tagged by many as the proxy and creation of BJP leader LK Advani. "The NC also enjoyed power with BJP from 1999 and PDP had an alliance with BJP post 2014 assembly polls. They are the actual B-team of BJP,'' he added

In Jammu, NC vice-president Omar Abdullah blamed the PDP for the present situation as his rival had aligned with BJP in 2014. "We had warned PDP patron late Mufti Sayeed of the repercussions of aligning with BJP. We had also offered unconditional support to him but he joined hands with BJP and people of J&K have paid a heavy price for PDP-BJP alliance," he said.

Reacting to Omar's statement, former minister and Peoples Conference chairman Sajad Lone said the NC was the first political party from J&K to align with the saffron party.

He said people remember how announcements for imposition and relaxation of curfew were made by the Home Secretary during the 2010 agitation in the Valley when he was in power. ''Both NC and PDP are backed by the establishment.''

Economic Offence Unit lets its presence felt

The Economic Offence Unit (EOU), which has so far been working at a snail's pace, has tightened the noose around government officers from various wings, including the police department, who indulged in malpractices and made wealth through inappropriate ways. With the posting of an upright IPS officer Nayyar Hasnain Khan as ADG of EOU in January, the liquor mafia, corrupt police officers and others who amass disproportionate wealth are having a tough time. Hundreds of police and other officers have been held so far. Khan said their crusade against corruption would continue.

Nightmare of confrontation is back: Russia

Demands that NATO scale back military deployment meant to protect Ukraine

MOSCOW

RUSSIAN Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov warned on Thursday that the "nightmare scenario of a military confrontation was returning" in Europe, as tensions spike over Ukraine.

Speaking at a meeting of Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe in Stockholm, Lavrov accused NATO of bringing its military infrastructure "closer to the Russian borders" and urged the West to seriously consider "relevant proposals" Moscow would be presenting soon to prevent NATO's expansion to the east.

The Kremlin also voiced concerns about what it described as belligerent rhetoric of the Ukrainian leadership, saying it raises concerns about a possible escalation of fighting in a separatist conflict in eastern Ukraine.

Ukrainian and Western officials have worried about a Russian troop build-up near Ukraine, fearing it could herald an invasion. But Moscow has insisted it has no such intention and accused Ukraine and its Western backers of making up the claims to cover up their own allegedly aggressive designs. Top US diplomat Antony Blinken on Thursday warned Russia against invading Ukraine, as Moscow told Kiev that any attempt to retake the Crimean peninsula amounted to a "direct threat" to Russia.

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken (L) with Russia's Sergei Lavrov

Western powers have been sounding the alarm in recent weeks about Russia massing troops along the border with Ukraine, further stoking tensions in an area where a long-running conflict has already left 13,000 dead.

Moscow, which is accused of backing the separatists fighting Kiev, has denied preparing an attack and accuses NATO of raising the temperature. "We have deep concerns about Russia's plans for renewed aggression," Blinken told Lavrov.

Striking a conciliatory note, Blinken said the US was ready to "facilitate" the "full implementation" of the Minsk peace accords. AFP

US justices signal they may curtail abortion rights

WASHINGTON

THE Supreme Court's six conservative justices, hearing the biggest challenge to abortion rights in decades, have indicated they will uphold a Mississippi law that bans abortion after 15 weeks of pregnancy.

The conservative majority on the nine-member court has signaled it would allow states to ban abortion much earlier in pregnancy and may even overturn the nationwide right that has existed for nearly 50 years.

With hundreds of demonstrators outside chanting for and against, the justices led arguments that could decide the fate of the court's historic 1973 Roe vs Wade decision legalising abortion throughout the United States and its 1992 ruling in Planned Parenthood vs Casey, which reaffirmed Roe.

The outcome probably won't be known until next June. But after nearly two hours of arguments, the six conservative justices, including three appointed by former President Donald Trump, indicated they'd uphold Mississippi's law. At the very least, such a decision would undermine Roe and Casey, which allow states to regulate but not ban abortion up until the point of fetal viability, at roughly 24 weeks.

Pro-abortion activists demonstrate in front of the US Supreme Court | AFP

There also was substantial support among the conservative justices for getting rid of Roe and Casey altogether. Justice Clarence Thomas is the only member of the court who has openly called for overruling the two cases.

Justice Brett Kavanaugh, a Trump appointee, asked whether the court would be better off withdrawing completely from the abortion issue and letting states decide.

"Why should this court be the arbiter rather than Congress, the state legislatures, state supreme courts, the people being able to resolve this?" Kavanaugh asked. "And there will be different answers in Mississippi and New York, different answers in Alabama than California."

Abortion would soon become illegal or severely restricted in roughly half the states if Roe and Casey are overturned, according to the Guttmacher Institute, a research organization that supports abortion rights.

BID TO SHORE UP FOREX STOCKPILE ADDS TO PAIN

The pandemic has wreaked havoc on the island's economy, and the government has banned imports of food, vehicles and other items in an effort to shore up its stockpile of foreign currency

These restrictions have led to severe shortages of food, cooking gas and cement, and Sri Lanka was forced to shut its only oil refinery last month as the country ran out of dollars to import crude

Sri Lanka recorded its worst-ever economic performance last year with a 3.6 per cent contraction, fuelled largely by the fallout from the pandemic on tourism

$2.26 billion
was Sri Lanka's forex reserves at the end of October, around a third of the levels when the government took office two years ago. Central bank has said the country is facing its worst foreign exchange crisis since the advent of a free economy and have demanded all exporters turn over their foreign exchange earnings within six months

1 The Sri Lankan rupee is currently pegged at LKR 200 against the US dollar. However, according to analysts, tighter exchange control moves by the Central Bank has resulted in an unofficial parallel exchange rate of LKR 239

2 The Central Bank of Sri Lanka said it has decided to pay an incentive of Rs 8 per US dollar for workers' remittances, in addition to the existing incentive of Rs 2 under the Incentive Scheme on Inward Workers' Remittances

3 The incentive will be paid when the funds are remitted through Licensed Banks and other internationally accepted formal channels and converted into Sri Lankan rupees during the period from Dec 1 to Dec 31, the apex bank said in a statement on Wednesday

Vienna: An court has fined a surgeon for amputating the wrong leg of a patient, a spokesperson for the tribunal in the city of Linz said Wednesday. While the 43-year-old defendant said her actions were due to "human error", the judge found her guilty of gross negligence and fined her 2,700 euros, with half the amount suspended. The surgeon had marked the wrong leg of the 82-year-old for amputation ahead of the operation in May, only noticing the mistake two days after surgery.

Extend debt relief to avoid economic collapse, G20 told

WASHINGTON

THE IMF on Thursday urged advanced economies in the G20 to extend and improve their debt relief initiative, warning that many countries face a dire crisis without the help.

"We may see economic collapse in some countries unless G20 creditors agree to accelerate debt restructurings and suspend debt service while the restructurings are being negotiated," IMF chief Kristalina Georgieva said, adding that it is critical private creditors also offer relief.

The G20 Debt Service Suspension Initiative (DSSI) expires at the end of the year, and without a renewal, countries would face financial pressure and spending cuts just as new Covid-19 variants are spreading and interest rates are expected to rise, she said.

"Debt challenges are pressing and the need for action is urgent. The recent Omicron variant is a stark reminder that the pandemic will be with us for a while," Georgieva said in the blog co-authored by Ceyla Pazarbasioglu, director of the fund's Strategy, Policy, and Review Department.

Georgieva did not specify which economies faced a crisis, but referred simply to "low-income countries."

Advanced economies in the Group of 20 announced the program last year amid the Covid-19 pandemic, which hit poor countries the hardest, hampering the ability of those governments to service their debt and support their people. The G20 twice extended the DSSI, but the IMF and World Bank have been urging creditors to do more to help with the burgeoning debt load. There are 73 countries eligible for relief under the program.

The World Bank estimates that debt loads in poor countries surged 12 percent to a record $860 billion in 2020 amid the pandemic, and Georgieva said "about 60 percent of low-income countries are at high risk or already in debt distress." AFP

Girl with rare condition sues doc over her birth

LONDON

A 20-year-old British girl, born with a rare medical condition, has been awarded right to millions in damages after she took a doctor to court for not properly advising her mother while she was pregnant. The girl, Evie Toombes, claims if Dr Philip Mitchell had told her mother that she needed to take folic acid supplements to minimise the risk of spina bifida affecting her baby, her mother would have put off getting pregnant, and in which case, she would not have been born at all.

The girl launched a "wrongful conception" case against the doctor as she is suffering from spina bifida, which has prevented her from having a quality life. In a unique ruling in the landmark case, London's High Court has awarded her right to a huge compensation payout, The Sun reported.

Evie Toombes

Judge Rosalind Coe QC said Dr Mitchell did not tell the girl's mother of the importance of taking folic acid supplements before getting pregnant. The judge noted that had she been made aware she would have put off conceiving and later would have given birth to a totally healthy child.

"He told me it was not necessary," the girl's mother told the court, referring to folic acid supplements. "I was advised if I had a good diet, I would not have to take folic acid."

Public can't keep over 10 non-commercial pets

People in Singapore need to strictly abide by the rules while keeping pets and can keep only up to 10 numbers of non-commercial pets, the National Parks Board said on Thursday. The comments came a day after a three-year-old girl was attacked by a pet peacock while the toddler stood watching it at a park here, The Straits Times newspaper reported. Peacocks can be kept as pets in Singapore, but there are rules that owners must abide by, the National Parks Board said. It said that members of the public are allowed to keep non-commercial poultry as pets - but only up to 10 of such animals.

OPEC+ agrees to raise output in Jan despite Omicron worry

LONDON

MAJOR oil producers decided on Thursday to keep raising output levels in January, despite the Omicron coronavirus variant raising fresh questions over demand. The OPEC+ alliance led by Saudi Arabia and Russia had so far resisted US-led pressure to significantly boost output to rein in surging energy prices.

Observers had expected the club to opt for a freeze in production for January, particularly after the emergence of the Omicron variant sent countries rushing to impose new travel curbs and mull other measures that could dampen demand and hurt oil prices.

But after meeting for a little over an hour on Thursday afternoon via video conference, the 13 members of the Vienna-based Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and their 10 allies decided to stick with a modest increase in output of 4,00,000 barrels per day every month, as they have been doing since May. The OPEC+ meeting came a week after the United States and to a lesser extent China, India and Japan decided to dip into their strategic reserves to help bring down crude prices, after a price surge that has undermined economic recovery. "We suspect that the US-led co-ordinated release of oil reserves... was one reason why OPEC+ decided to push ahead with their plan to raise oil output," said commodities economist Edward Gardner from Global Economic AFP

Court backs Meghan in row over privacy with publisher

LONDON

THE Duchess of Sussex on Thursday won the latest stage in her long-running privacy lawsuit against a newspaper publisher over its publication of parts of a letter she wrote to her estranged father.

The Court of Appeal in London upheld a High Court ruling in February that publication of the letter that Meghan Markle wrote to her father Thomas Markle after she married Prince Harry in 2018 was unlawful.

The publisher of the Mail on Sunday and the MailOnline website challenged that decision at the Court of Appeal, which held a hearing last month. Dismissing that appeal, senior judge Geoffrey Vos told the court in a brief hearing Thursday that 'the Duchess had a reasonable expectation of privacy in the contents of the letter. Those contents were personal, private."

In a statement, Meghan, 40, said "While this win is precedent-setting, what matters the most is that we are now collectively brave enough to reshape a tabloid industry that conditions people to be cruel, and profits from the lies and pain that they create," she said.

Associated Newspapers disputed Meghan's claim that she didn't intend the letter to be seen by anyone but her father. They said correspondence between Meghan and her then-communications secretary, Jason Knauf, showed the duchess suspected her father might leak the letter to journalists and wrote it with that in mind.

The publisher also argued that the publication of the letter was part of Thomas Markle's right to reply following a People magazine interview with five of Meghan's friends alleging he was 'cruelly cold-shouldering' his daughter in the run-up to her royal wedding. AP

₹2.82 L cr disbursed under ECLGS

First tranche yet to be used; 1.5 L cr added to emergency loan guarantee scheme in June

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@New Delhi

DESPITE so much push by the government to disburse credit to small industries, so far ₹2.82 lakh crore of loans have been sanctioned under the Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS).

"'As informed by DFS, as on November 19, 2021, ₹2.82 lakh crore of loans have been sanctioned under the scheme,'' MSME Minister Narayan Rane on Thursday informed the Lok Sabha in a written reply.

Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman had announced the scheme as the Covid relief measure to small industries last year, allocating ₹3 lakh crore for the scheme, apart from the additional ₹1.5 lakh crore announced in June this year, as a part of Covid relief package for the second wave.

However the disbursal was slow. Government relaxed the criteria of loan disbursal.

For instance, now existing borrowers under ECLGS 1.0 & 2.0 would be eligible for additional credit support of upto 10% of total credit outstanding as on 29.02.2020 or 31.03.2021, whichever is higher.

It also said, businesses who have not availed assistance under ECLGS (ECLGS 1.0 or 2.0), can avail credit support of upto 30% of their credit outstanding as on 31.03.2021 and in some sectors upto 40%.

It also announced an extension of the scheme till 31 March, 2022, as over ₹1.5 lakh crore remain unused. The last date of disbursement under the scheme has been extended to June 30, 2022. The ECLGS is under the domain of the Ministry of Finance, Department of Financial Services (DFS).

Aims for 15-minute delivery by Jan 2022

Swiggy to invest $700 m in grocery service Instamart

FOOD ordering and delivery platform Swiggy will invest $700 million in its express grocery delivery service Instamart.

Swiggy Instamart has onboarded more than one seller-run dark store every day in the last few months. By January 2022, it is planning to make deliveries in 15 minutes by having the network of dark stores very close to the majority of its customers.

Launched in Gurugram and Bengaluru in 2020, Swiggy Instamart is serving customers across 18 cities, and doing over 1 million orders per week.

According to a Redseer report, quick commerce is estimated at $ 0.3 billion in CY2021, and is expected to grow 10-15x in the next 5 years, to become $5 billion by 2025. The report added that over 20 million households are addressable by quick commerce in India with an estimated addressable market size of $50 billion in 2020. Mid to high income households, Metro and Tier 1 cities are a major growth driver of quick commerce.

"At our current growth trajectory, Instamart is set to reach an annualised GMV run rate of $1 billion in the next three quarters. Our food delivery business is trending at a $3 billion annualised GMV run rate," said Sriharsha Majety, CEO, Swiggy.

Instamart competes wth Zomato-backed Grofers, which focuses on 10 minutes delivery, and Dunzo, which recently launched 19-minute delivery in Bengaluru. Ride-hailing platform Ola too started piloting a quick delivery services for groceries. Smooth ride: Now you can book Uber cab services via WhatsApp chatbot

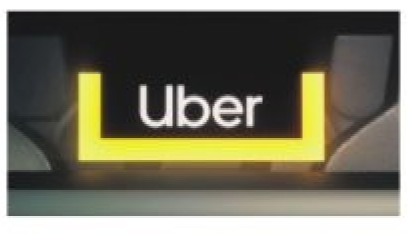
@New Delhi

UBER riders can now book their rides through messaging app WhasApp. Uber and WhatsApp on Thursday announced a partnership in India, allowing people to book an Uber ride via WhatsApp chatbot.

The service, currently rolled out on a pilot basis in Lucknow, would be a global-first for Uber. The service would be expanded to other Indian cities soon. However, neither of the companies has given a timeline for roll-out of the services to other cities. Built on WhatsApp Business Platform, the partnership will expand access to Uber's mobility services in one of the company's largest international markets, Uber said.



WhatsApp users can book an Uber ride by messaging to Uber's business account number, scanning a QR code or by simply clicking a link to open an Uber WhatsApp chat. They will then be asked to provide pickup and drop off locations. Users will receive upfront fare information and the driver's expected arrival time.

The service is available to both new and existing users registered with only a phone number on Uber. The drivers on Uber's platform will see no change in their experience.

The option to book a ride via WhatsApp will only be available in English but it will be expanded to other Indian languages soon. "We want to make it as easy as possible for all Indians to take an Uber trip, and to do that we need to meet them on platforms they are comfortable with," Nandini Maheshwari, Sr. Director, Business Development, Uber APAC, said. Abhijit Bose, Head of WhatsApp India, says: "The Uber experience on WhatsApp is simple, familiar, and relatable for users and has the potential to accelerate adoption of Uber with a new category of riders."

The lower than-expected volumes are likely to be mitigated by the ongoing mix improvement trend and higher-than-expected realisation growth. The company's earnings growth has gained further impetus in recent years (before Covid-19 affected FY21) – it reported a ~18% EPS CAGR in the four years ended FY20. This is impressive given the weak mid-single-digit earnings growth posted by peers in recent years.

Bajaj dethrones Hero MotoCorp as largest two-wheeler company

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@New Delhi

POOR demand in the domestic market is changing leadership rankings of two-wheeler manufacturers. Bajaj Auto, on the back of excellent exports, has now dethroned Hero MotorCorp to emerge the largest motorcycle manufacturer in a single month.

Bajaj sold a total of 3,37,962 motorcycles in November 2021 in the domestic and exports market as against 3,29,185 motorcycles sold by Hero. Hero, however, continues to maintain a strong lead in the domestic market even as its sales now are nowhere near what it used to be in growth months.

Hero on Tuesday reported a fall of 39.2% in two-wheeler sales to 3,49,393 units in November 2021 against 5,75,957 units in the same month a year ago.

"Delay in harvesting due to the late withdrawal of monsoon in many parts of the country impacted the demand post festive season," the company said in a statement. It added that with encouraging farm activity, softening of fuel prices, confident consumer index and marriage season, a swift revival in sales is expected in the fourth quarter.

Meanwhile, Bajaj shipped over half of its total output to export markets which helped it to overcome a sluggish domestic market. Its exports of 1,93,520 units during the month were much higher than the next three competitors- Hero, Honda and TVS-- combined. Bajaj's domestic sales stood at 1,44,442 units in November 2021, a fall of 23% y-o-y.

"Despite the challenging global macroeconomic environment and the overall motorcycle industry remaining subdued, Bajaj Auto continues to move forward and build on its strength of class leading products. In the exports market, Nigeria, Egypt & Mexico achieved their highest ever motorcycle retail sales. In Latin America, Bajaj Auto further strengthened its leadership position in the sports segment," said the Pune-based firm in a statement.

Meanwhile, Japanese two-wheeler brand Honda reported a decline of nearly 38% in domestic sale to 2,56,170 units in November 2021 and Chennai-based TVS Motor reported total two-wheeler sales of 2,57,863 units in November 2021, a 17% decline over sales of 3,11,519 units in November 2020.

Hero sees fall in sales

Hero on Tuesday reported a fall of 39.2% in two-wheeler sales to 3,49,393 units in November 2021 against 5,75,957 units in the same month a year ago. Hero, however, continues to maintain a strong lead in the domestic market

EESL to set up EV charging stations along 16 expressways

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@New Delhi

TRANSPORT and highways minister Nitin Gadkari on Thursday said the government has awarded Energy Efficiency Services Limited (EESL) consortium with Convergence Energy Services Ltd (subsidiary of EESL) to set up electric vehicle charging stations along 16 NHs/expressways. To facilitate EESL in EV charging project, the NHAI has signed an MOU with them. The NHAI will provide land near the toll plazas and their buildings for the installation of electric vehicle charging stations based on the revenue sharing model. The space will be provided to EESL at a no-cost basis for the duration as decided by the NHAI. The minister claimed, this would not only assist in promoting clean energy but could also be a source of revenue for the NHAI.

"Ministry of Heavy Industries (MHI) had invited proposals from government organizations/public sector undertakings (PSUs)... to build and operate public electric vehicle charging infrastructure on expressways and national highways under FAME India Scheme Phase-II, wherein EESL consortium with Convergence Energy Services Ltd (subsidiary of EESL) has been awarded the work for setting up of EV charging stations," informed Gadkari in a written reply in Lok Sabha.

The minister said EV charging stations are to be provided by the developer as part of the wayside amenities (WSAs). "Additional WSA sites, as and when identified by the authority, would also be put up for bidding. The works which have been already awarded are expected to be completed by the end of FY 2022-23."

India reaches 40% target of power from non-fossil fuel

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

IN line with Prime Minister Narendra Modi's announcement to achieve 500 GW of installed electricity capacity from non-fossil fuel sources by 2030 at COP26 Climate Conference, the government on Thursday said it has already achieved 40% of the target.

The total installed non-fossil fuel based capacity stands at 156.83 GW. "At COP 21, as part of its Nationally Determined Contributions (NDCs), India had committed to achieving 40% of its installed electricity capacity from non-fossil energy sources by 2030. The country has achieved this target in November 2021 itself," informed the Ministry of New and Renewable Energy in a press note. As per the government, the country's installed Renewable Energy (RE) capacity today stands at 150.05 GW while its nuclear energy based installed electricity capacity stands at 6.78 GW.

"This brings the total non-fossil based installed energy capacity to 156.83 GW which is 40.1% of the total installed electricity capacity of 390.8 GW," reads the press note. Prime Minister Modi at COP26 Climate Conference in Glasgow, pledged India will achieve net zero carbon emissions by 2070.

Star Health IPO subscribed 79%; gets strong response from anchor investors

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@New Delhi

AFTER a dull show by Paytm on the stock exchanges, it seems investors are shying away from big ticket IPOs. Star Health and Allied Insurance's ₹7,249 crore initial public offering (IPO) sparingly managed to sail through even as it missed to be subscribed 100%.

According to market sources, the IPO will now cut its offer for sale (sale of shares by existing investors) size. Star Health IPO has sailed through even as only 79% subscription is done (the requirement is 75%). As per rule for such issues where QIB portion is 75% and retail is 10% and in this case, both these categories are fully subscribed.

The IPO extended timing for individual investors till 7pm after receiving bids for only 80% of shares on offer at 5 pm, excluding the anchor allotment. The qualified institutional buyers (QIBs) part was subscribed 1.03 times, while those of non institutional investors was subscribed only 0.19 times. Retail individual investors was subscribed 1.10 times but shares for the employees' segment was subscribed 0.10 times.

Billionaire investor Rakesh Jhunjhunwala backed Star Health's IPO is the first IPO that has missed to attract 100% subscription of the original issue size in recent years. In 2018, the IPO of ICICI Securities and in 2019, the IPO of Shapoorji Pallonji group company Sterling & Wilson Solar had met a similar fate. Star's IPO which kicked off on Tuesday was subscribed 12% at the end of day one and 20% on day two.

HUL shifts from coal to green fuel

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@New Delhi

FMCG major Hindustan Unilever Limited (HUL) on Thursday announced it has eliminated coal usage across its operations replacing it with green alternatives such as biomass and biodiesel.

HUL in a statement said that to facilitate this, the company has collaborated with biomass suppliers and local farmers to ensure sustainable supply of green fuel.

This comes as the country is set for a major energy overhaul with various behemoths like Reliance and Adani Group having recently announced investments in clean energy as India aims to be net-zero. While Reliance plans to invest up to $10-billion in the new energy business over three years, Adani Group would invest $20 billion over the next decade.

The shift from coal to renewable energy sources has also resulted into savings for HUL. "One of HUL's largest home care plants, found innovative solutions to eliminate coal usage which has helped achieve ₹3.5 crore in fuel savings whilst reducing 4 million kgs of CO2 emissions and increasing fuel efficiency as well," it said.

"This is a milestone achievement in our compass journey and our commitment towards achieving zero emissions in our operations by 2030," said Sanjiv Mehta, Chairman and Managing Director, HUL.

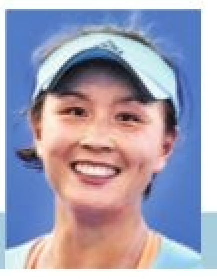
Loss of China events over Peng could go past '22



The suspension of all WTA tournaments in China because of concerns about the safety of Peng Shuai, a Grand Slam doubles champion who accused a former government official there of sexual assault, could result in cancellations of those events beyond 2022, the head of the women's professional tennis tour told The Associated Press.

IOA election set to be postponed as intrigue deepens

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

THE drama continues. The Indian Olympic Association's (IOA) elections, originally slated for December 19, is set to be postponed after the Delhi High Court decided to maintain status quo on the elections until the next hearing on December 10. The nomination process was to begin on December 2 and end by Saturday evening.

According to sports lawyer Rahul Mehra, who had approached the High Court to direct the IOA to change its consitution according to the National Sports Develpoment Code of India, the court would be hearing the case on December 10 and until then the 'interim stay' would continue.

Mehra said the court had suggested that the IOA bring its entire consitution in consonance with the sports code as petitioned by him.

"I have raised various issues which highlight many provisions which are in violation of the Sports Code, laws of the land (SC and HC judgements), International Olympic Committee (IOC) Charter and court orders, directives and advisories." The lawyer said the court has issued notice on his application and asked non applicants to file their replies and has extended the interim order of stay on IOA elections "after noting Union of India's stand that it doesn't want this election process to continue until the final disposal of my matter".

With the IOA divided into two groups -- one with its president Narinder Batra and the other with secretary general Rajeev Mehta -- the whole episode gets more intriguing. Interestingly, one particular point of interest to some of the members in the Mehta camp has been the argument on restrictive clause that bars members who were not part of previous five Executive Councils to contest for the posts of president and secretary.

In the November 30 interim order, the issue that was highlighted was the restrictive clause which the secretary general's and the UOI's counsels too supported. They were of the view that the clause should be withdrawn. There had been discussion among various members of IOA on December 1 and some even suggested that the clause should be kept at abeyance for the elections. Apparently, members supporting Batra felt this should be conveyed to the court. However, Mehra wanted the IOA to follow the sports code in letter and spirit.

If the restrictive clause is removed, there are numerous possibilities present in front of the Mehta camp, who could find a suitable candidate for the post of president to challenge Batra. Some senior members are perturbed and feel there are indications that even someone from the country's ruling dispensation, the BJP, could find a way into the IOA.

The removal of the restrictive clause could free some names with strong political connections, including the son of a minister.

The Batra camp is however quite optimistic about the number of members supporting them. In the EC meeting last month, Batra had more supporters, but some say it needs to be seen how this HC matter pans out. The Electoral College for the elections was drawn up on November 30 before the HC intervention. Even here, there seems to be a divide: some members say there are two Electoral Colleges, one by the president and the other by the secretary. There seems to be a discrepancy in 12-13 names.

Since only the election has been stayed, it needs to be seen if the AGM in Guwahati on December 19 will go ahead and whether IOA would change the constitution.

KOHLI IN BUT FOR WHOM?

With the Indian captain coming back, the big question is who among Pujara and Rahane, will sit out the 2nd Test

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

DURING his first half of his captaincy stint, Virat Kohli was ruthless when it came to choosing the XI. Especially when it came down to picking between two batters, current form mattered more than the past.

While it didn't have any bearing in the home Tests, the story was different overseas. The merry-go-round meant the batting order was never a settled unit. With a lack of security creating pressure, it eventually proved to be their biggest undoing in the 2018 tours of South Africa and England.

As Kohli grew into his role as skipper, the chop and change policy was binned. Cheteshwar Pujara and Ajinkya Rahane – two batters who had missed out on crucial Tests away from home – have received the backing they deserved. Talks of strike-rates and inconsistencies vanished as India enjoyed a glorious run in the inaugural World Test Championship cycle, which ended with a defeat in the final to New Zealand. Crucially, it is where Kohli first mentioned the need to enter the transition phase with an eye on the future.

India captain Virat Kohli, Shubman Gill and head coach Rahul Dravid at the BKC indoor stadium in Mumbai on the eve of the second Test againt New Zealand | BCCI

As Kohli returns to international cricket after a short break, the two-match Test series against New Zealand is up for grabs and straight away he is in need to take a big call. Who will make way for Kohli at the Wankhede on Friday? It is the question that has generated more interest than the Test. Despite India playing most of their recent Tests on challenging conditions at home and overseas, the middle-order has been their biggest concern. Pujara hasn't scored a century in 35 months and Rahane is without one in 21 innings and Kohli — the only all-format player among the trio — is without an international century in two years.

To be fair to Pujara and Rahane, they have scored important, vital runs whenever the team needed it the most. They have come in Australia, at home, and in England. But consistency continues to be missing. In a team where their philosophy revolves around batters taking more responsibility so that they can play five bowlers, Pujara and Rahane have got the long rope only because the results have been going India's way. After it cost the WTC final, India even contemplated dropping one of them for the England series and play Hanuma Vihari instead. However, in English conditions, the then team management preferred to back the duo on the basis of their epxerience.

Stronger pace attack

Irrespective of the surface, New Zealand's strength lies in their pace unit. With the Mumbai track, which also offers good bounce and carry, left-arm pacer Neil Wagner, who was not picked for the first Test, could come in handy with his impressive bouncers. He could replace Rachin Ravindra or William Somerville in the playing XI. Imagine their attack of Tim Southee, Kyle Jamieson and Wagner, it looks threatening.

Stat that matters

Though Rahane and Pujara's lack of runs have been talked about quite a lot, Kohli's numbers have not been scrutinised enough. He has not scored a ton ever since his three digit score in November 2019. To make it worse, he has not aggregated more than 100 runs in any Test match for around two years.

The difficult decision to drop them or not is now down to the new team management. It isn't an easy one to make with a tough tour of South Africa lined up. India have already earmarked Shubman Gill and Shreyas as their middle-order options for the future and prefer to give them enough opportunities at home before exposing them in away conditions. This is why the New Zealand series was not only important for Pujara and Rahane but India too. Had the two even showed some sign of form in Kanpur, India may have still persisted with the duo.

Instead, Shreyas is now forcing India to rush with the decision. India still prefer some experience in middle-order with Kohli as having two inexperienced batters at No 3 & 5 in South African conditions would be precarious. It would leave Gill, Shreyas and Rishabh Pant forming the middle in their maiden tour to the SA with Kohli at No 4. Post South Africa, India's remaining WTC assignments are against Sri Lanka and Australia at home followed by one in Bangladesh. These series would be the ideal time for transition. Which means India are likely to give only one of Pujara and Rahane an opportunity going forward.

And if it happens, it will be a justified call.

Quarantine may cut short S Africa tour

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

Even as Cricket South Africa (CSA) is preparing an elaborate plan to convince BCCI to send its men's team for a full-fledged series from mid-December to January amid Omicron concerns, a revised schedule seems inevitable. Although BCCI officials are not ruling out the possibility of a full tour as of now, but they are indicating the possibility of a curtailed tour as an option as well. This was necessitated after it came to light that Indian players have to undergo seven days of hard quarantine on arrival at Johannesburg.

As per the current schedule, India are set to leave for Johannesburg via chartered flight on December 9 to play three Tests, three ODIs and four T20Is. However, as things stand there seems to be a question mark on this as the BCCI is still assessing the ground situation in South Africa, which has seen spike in new variant Covid cases, especially in Johannesburg. Although the tour was going to be played in a bio-secure environment, what is bothering BCCI right now is that other than Johannesburg, teams will stay in hotels open to other guests.

Liverpool had won only once in their last nine visits to Goodison Park, but the gulf in class between the sides currently was obvious as Mohamed Salah produced two more stunning finishes to take his tally for the season to 19 goals in 19 games.

Results: Aston Villa 1-2 Manchester City, Everton 1-4 Liverpool, Southampton 2-2 Leicester, Watford 1-2 Chelsea, West Ham 1-1 Brighton, Wolves 0-0 Burnley.

Anju elated, eyes bigger success

INDRANEEL DAS@Chennai

LATE on Wednesday, Anju Bobby George hardly had words to explain her emotions minutes after conferred the World Athletics' Woman of the Year Award. "I am just thrilled and honoured that the athletics' world body has recognised my work," she said. And of course, she confessed it was a surprise. "How could I have expected a World Athletics Award?" she asked. The 44-year-old is the first athlete to be honoured by the World Athletics.

The announcement on Wednesday was late but Anju was overjoyed. "It is an honour and a responsibility too," she said. "I have dedicated my life for athletics and getting this recognition will only motivate me."

Motivation it is. Like Anju puts it, she left with a World Championships medal and now as a coach and mentor she is starting with a medal at the World Championships (junior). She is alluding to Shaili Singh's medal at the U-20 World Championships in August. Shaili was spotted by Anju and her husband and coach Robert Bobby George when she was 14 and brought to Anju Bobby George Foundation for training. She has been with them since.

For Anju struggles of an upcoming athlete is well known. Even after her 2003 World Championships medal, she and her husband used to struggle to get a sponsor. Sometimes forced to used whatever prize money they earned to put it back into the sport. This is something she would not want any of her athletes to face.

"They just need to concentrate on their sport and studies. We will take care of their logistics," said the senior vice president of the Athletics Federation of India. "We know the struggles of an athlete."

Women empowerment is one that she holds close to her heart. "It is something that I really believe in and going forward I would like to help in whatever way possible to empower women through sports in particular," she said. As of now the foundation supports 13 trainees and she hopes she can help one of them win an Olympic medal soon.

South African President Cyril Ramaphosa Thursday warned against the risk of "health apartheid" as he took aim at travel bans imposed on his country after it detected the new Omicron variant of Covid

Given that it was our own African scientists who first detected the Omicron variant, it is also a slap in the face of African excellence and expertise," Ramaphosa said after meeting his Ivorian counterpart Alassane Ouattara

Omicron to account for 50% cases in EU

Prediction based on mathematical modelling; last month, the EU agency had said the grouping may see 7,00,000 cases this winter

COVID

STOCKHOLM: The Omicron variant of Covid-19, believed to be more contagious than previous strains, could cause more than half of all Covid infections in Europe in coming months, the EU health agency ECDC said on Thursday.

"Based on mathematical modelling conducted by ECDC, there are indications that Omicron could cause over half of all SARS-CoV-2 infections in the EU/EEA within the next few months," it said in an assessment report.

Toxic mix of low stocks and low testing, warns WHO

The World Health Organization on Thursday warned of a "toxic mix of low vaccine coverage and very low testing -- a recipe for breeding and amplifying variants" as the European Union raises the prospect of mandatory jabs.

African watchdog calls for moderation in response

However, the African Union's health watchdog appealed for calm over Omicron. John Nkengasong, head of the Africa Centres for Disease Control and Prevention, said: "We are concerned but are not worried that the situation cannot be managed. There is no need to panic. We are not defenceless." The Africa CDC said it had been preparing "for the longest time" for the possibility of a new variant and was well placed to contain a surge.

The Omicron variant has been reported in four African countries, including South Africa, Ghana, Nigeria and Botswana. "This will be the fourth wave that we are facing as a continent," he said.

The situation is very serious. The number of infections has stabilized, but on a far too high a level. An ethics committee will be asked to draft legislation to make vaccination must

Angela Merkel, Germany Chancellor

Previous infection can't stop Omicron: Scientist

Meanwhile, a a top South African scientist said people infected with earlier variants of Covid do not appear to be protected against Omicron, although vaccination will still prevent serious illness,

"We believe that previous infection does not provide protection from Omicron," said Anne von Gottberg, an expert at the National Institute for Communicable Diseases.

Outlining early research into the newly-emerged variant, she said doctors were seeing "an increase for Omicron reinfections." This trend was also seen in models which projected those cases against the overall population, she said in a news conference with the World Health Organization's Africa region.

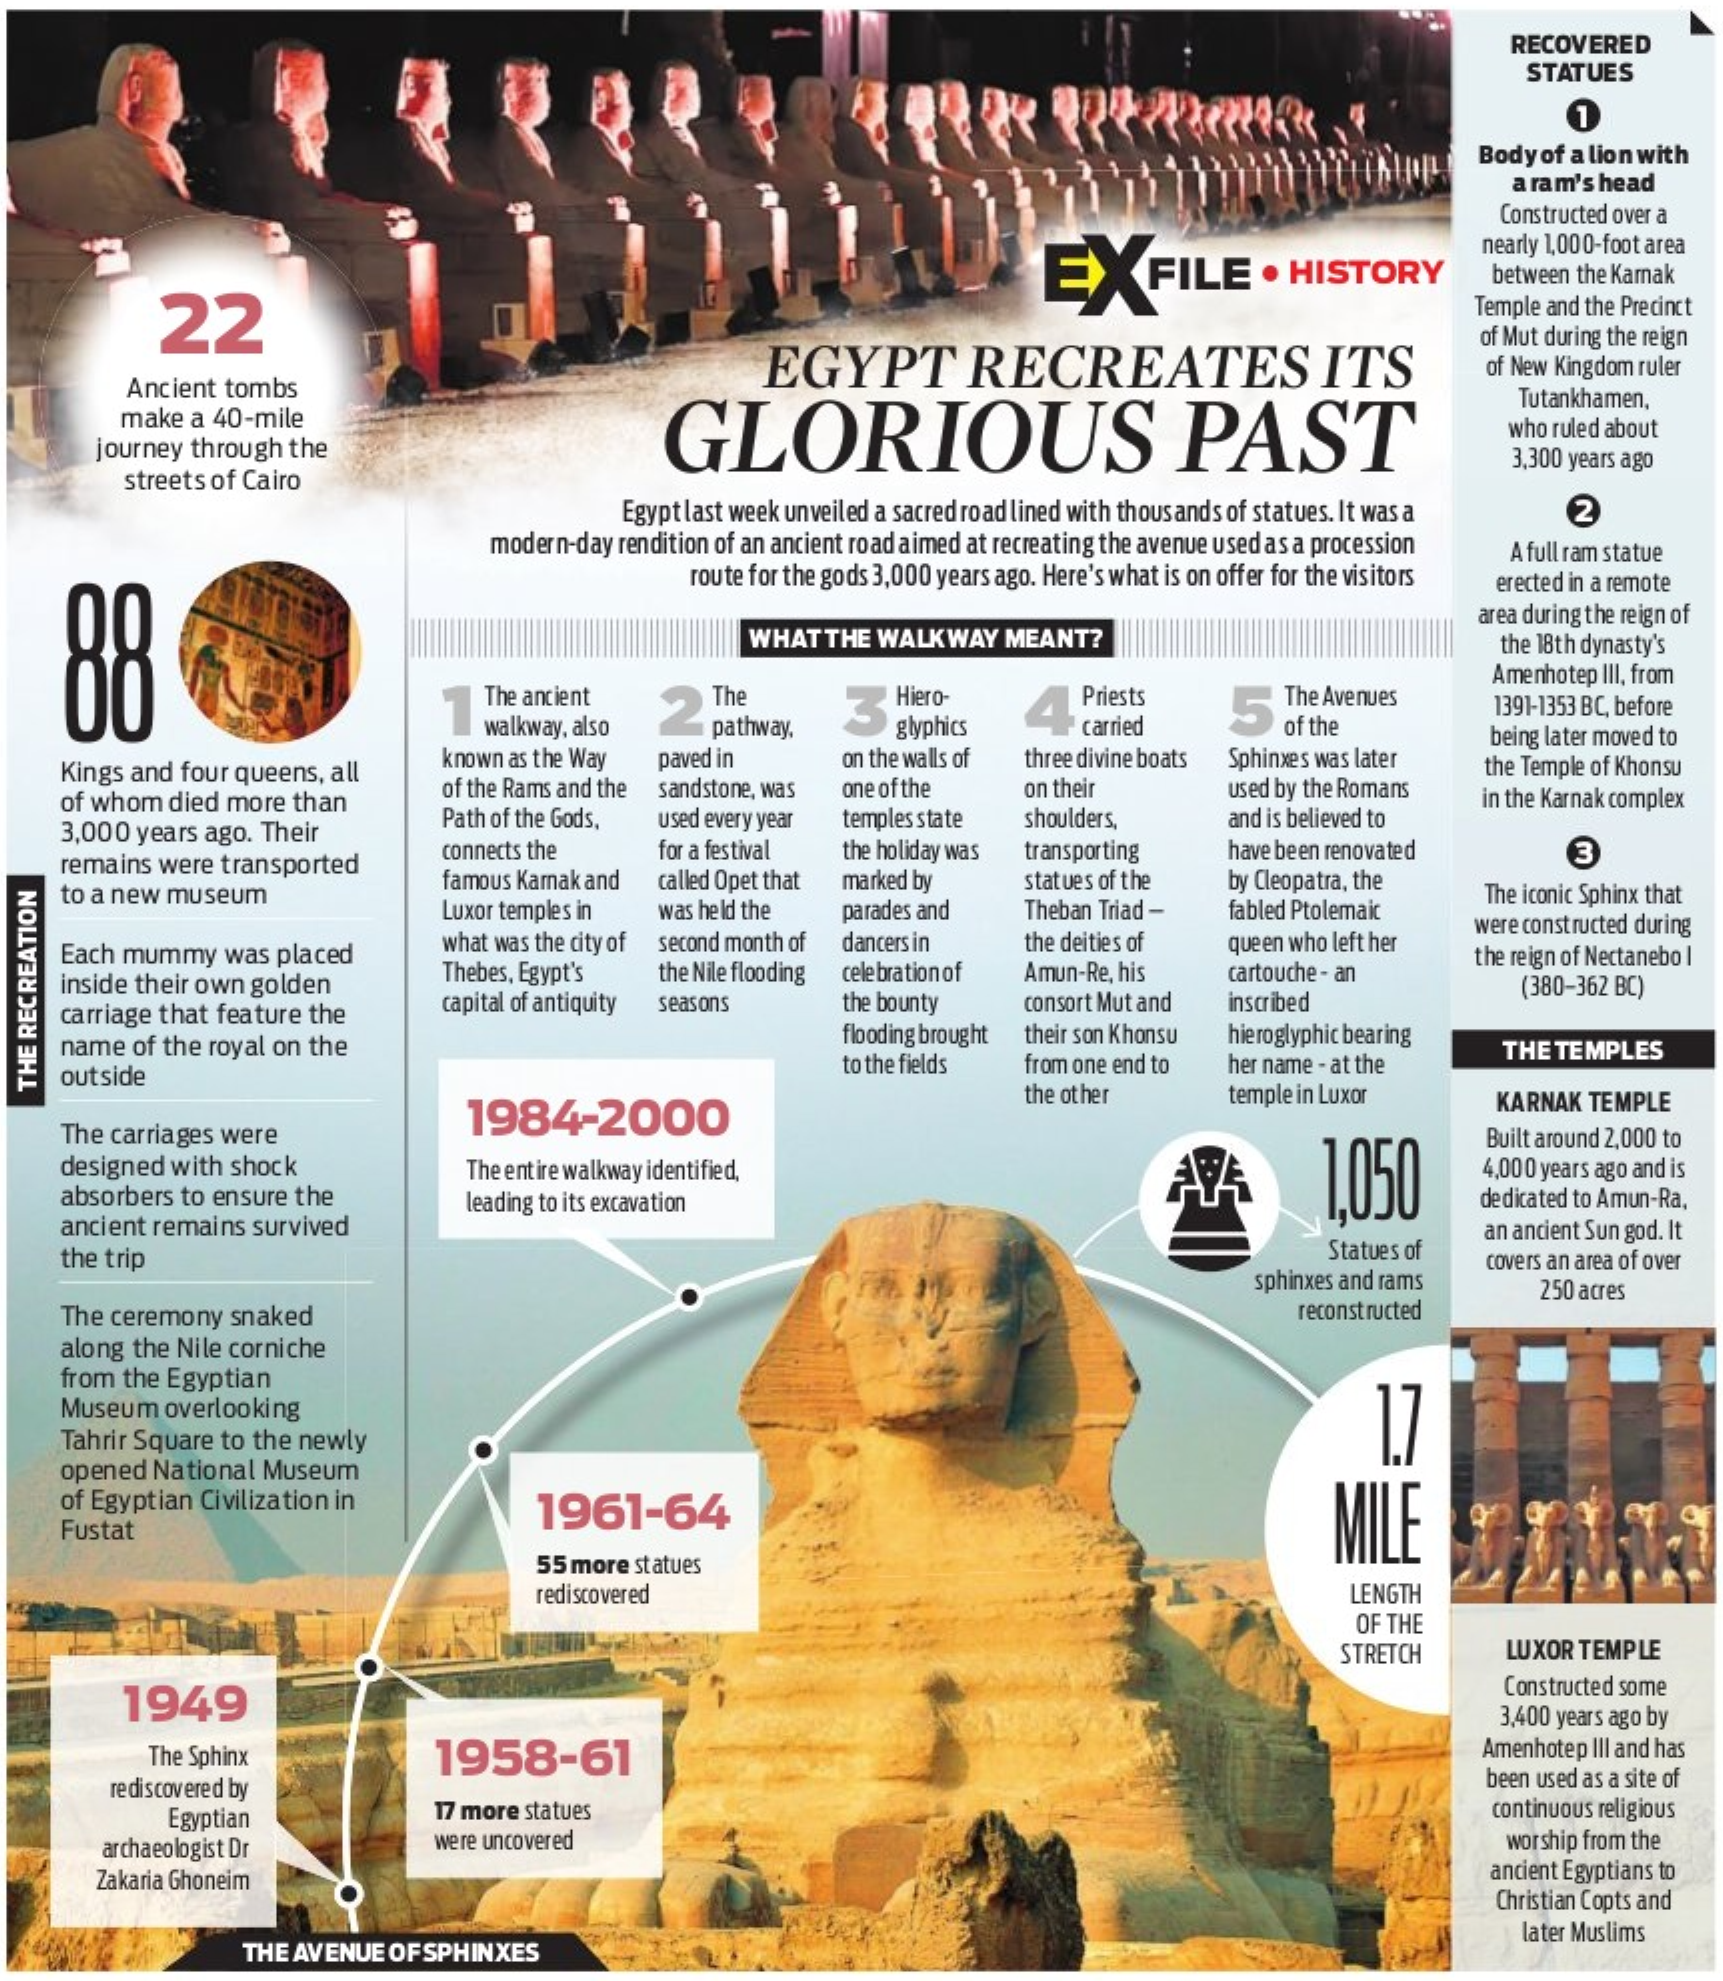
"We believe the number of cases will increase exponentially in all provinces of the country," she said. "We believe that vaccines will still however protect against severe disease," she added. "Vaccines have always held out to protect against serious disease, hospitalisations and death."

Berlin to set the template for restrictions in Europe

In Berlin, German Chancellor Angela Merkel, her designated successor Olaf Scholz and state leaders were huddled in emergency talks to impose tougher measures designed to stem rocketing Covid cases, fueled by the Delta variant, in Europe's largest economy.

According to a draft agreement seen by AFP, the plans include a blanket ban on entering bars, restaurants, theatres and cinemas for the unvaccinated or not recovered from Covid. The unvaccinated would also be banned from Christmas markets and non-essential shops.

Meanwhile, The Netherlands on Thursday said more than half of the passengers quarantined at a hotel after testing positive following their arrival from South Africa can leave, but those with the Omicron variant must stay. The passengers, who arrived on two KLM flights from South Africa last Friday and initially tested positive for Covid-19, tested negative during second tests taken from Monday onwards.



EGYPT RECREATES ITS GLORIOUS PAST

Egypt last week unveiled a sacred road lined with thousands of statues. It was a modern-day rendition of an ancient road aimed at recreating the avenue used as a procession route for the gods 3,000 years ago. Here's what is on offer for the visitors

THE RECREATION

Ancient tombs make a 40-mile journey through the streets of Cairo

88
Kings and four queens, all of whom died more than 3,000 years ago. Their remains were transported to a new museum

Each mummy was placed inside their own golden carriage that feature the name of the royal on the outside

The carriages were designed with shock absorbers to ensure the ancient remains survived the trip

The ceremony snaked along the Nile corniche from the Egyptian Museum overlooking Tahrir Square to the newly opened National Museum of Egyptian Civilization in Fustat

WHAT THE WALKWAY MEANT?

1 The ancient walkway, also known as the Way of the Rams and the Path of the Gods, connects the famous Karnak and Luxor temples in what was the city of Thebes, Egypt's capital of antiquity

2 The pathway, paved in sandstone, was used every year for a festival called Opet that was held the second month of the Nile flooding seasons

3 Hieroglyphics on the walls of one of the temples state the holiday was marked by parades and dancers in celebration of the bounty flooding brought to the fields

4 Priests carried three divine boats on their shoulders, transporting statues of the Theban Triad — the deities of Amun-Re, his consort Mut and their son Khonsu from one end to the other

5 The Avenues of the Sphinxes was later used by the Romans and is believed to have been renovated by Cleopatra, the fabled Ptolemaic queen who left her cartouche - an inscribed hieroglyphic bearing her name - at the temple in Luxor

US to bring tighter travel restrictions

COVID

WASHINGTON: President Joe Biden will announce Thursday a winter campaign against Covid-19, with new testing requirements for travelers and a surge in vaccination efforts – but no clear path to defeating the pandemic he was elected to confront. Biden has brought steady leadership after the chaotic Donald Trump years, but the mutating coronavirus continues to defy him, helping drive his approval ratings deep underwater.

In a speech from the National Institutes of Health research center outside Washington, Biden is set to list a raft of actions designed to tamp down Covid-19 during the winter as the latest Omicron variant spreads worldwide. The first US case was detected on Wednesday.

Top of the list will be an announcement that toughened rules on testing for travelers will take effect within days, a senior administration official said. Biden will "announce that we are further strengthening our testing requirements so that starting early next week, all international travelers will be required to test negative within one day of their departure to the US," the official told reporters. This will apply to all travelers regardless of whether they have been vaccinated. For domestic travelers, Biden will announce he is extending a mask mandate on airplanes, trains and other public transport through mid-March. The barrage of measures is partly meant to reassure Americans that Biden is doing everything possible to prevent the pandemic from derailing economic recovery.

Pilots quit over Hong Kong's quarantine rules

Cathay Pacific has been hit by a wave of pilot resignations in recent weeks as resentment over Hong Kong's strict quarantine regime boils over and crew scramble for emerging opportunities overseas. The departures come as Hong Kong ties itself to Beijing's closed-border zero-Covid strategy -- a move that has kept the city coronavirus-free but internationally isolated. Hong Kong's leaders say normalising travel with China must come before the rest of the world, a strategy that has caused growing alarm among multinationals. For much of the pandemic Hong Kong has restricted inbound travel with as much as three weeks mandatory quarantine. Pilots have some exemptions but spend days shuttling within plane-to-hotel bubbles to avoid triggering quarantine when they return.
